Mr. Wilson Admits He Believes Move on Foot To Incite Mexico War

Organized Desire Troublesome, He Says, But Not Cause for Alarm—General Mexic Situation Is Greatly Improved

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—President Wilson let it be known today that he was inclined to believe there was an organized desire—proceeding from sources unknown to him—to brin gon a war between the United States and Mexico. The president does not regard the movement as extensive, but as very troublesome, and referred to misrepresentation in certain newspapers.

He indicated that he shared somewhat the views of Senator Williams, who declared in a speech last Saturday that an organized lobby existed to involve the United States in war.

There is no occasion for alarm, in the opinion of the president, who told callers today that within the last forty-eight hours the Mexican situation had improved materially. It was made clear by the president to those with whom he discussed the situation that the instructions to John Lind, his personal representative, were chiefly to inform the American government how things stood generally in Mexico and just what were the opportunities for good offices of the United States in the interests of peace.

Sooner or later Mr. Lind will make certain suggestions to the Huerta government through the American embassy, but in just what circumstances has not been fully determined upon. Anything in the suggestions that property may be made public wi.. be revealed according to administration officials here, and foreign governments will be constantly apprised of the various steps taken by the United States. This may not take place, however, for several days.

President Wilson has no direct communication either with the Huerta government or the constitutionalist authorities, and he indicated to his callers today that he would welcome more information about the purpose of the constitutionalists.

It was learned also that the president has not yet formally considered recognition of the belligerency of the constitutionalists, but that insofar as territory alone is concerned, he regarded that held by the constitutionalists as strong enough in proportion to that controlled by the Huerta government as to make recognition of the constitutionalists not wholly unjustinfiable from a diplomatic standpoint.

There was evidence in the senate of a determination on the part of the leaders to keep Mexican affairs out of the debate. Members of the foreign relations committee said President Wilson had exacted no promise from them to that end, but they were agreed the administration should be allowed to carry out its work for the next few days with as little embarrassment as possible.

Secretary Bryan had a long conference with President Wilson on the Mexican situation. They had before them the first dispatches from Mr. Lind, but no information as to thir contents was disclosed.

Lind Holds Long Conference With Charge O'Shaughnessy

(By Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Aug. 11.—John Lind, personal envoy of President Wilson in Mexico city, installed himself today in temporary offices at the United States embassy, as unofficial adviser to the American charge d'affaires, Nelson O'Shaughnessy. Mr. Lind passed several hours in close conference with the charge, discussing the difficulties of the Mexican nation for which he, it is alleged, brings a panacea.

Mr. Lind was an early riser this morning. The sun had not mounted high over Popocatepetl mountain before he was astir. He took a stroll in the park in front of his hotel and down San Francisco avenue before the shutters were removed from the store windows.

A few hours later an automobile called at the hotel and conveyed Mr. Lind to the embassy of the United States. Here, to the accompaniment of hammering in adjoining rooms, where carpenters were packing household goods of Henry Lane Wilson, former American ambassador here, the "adviser," entered upon his duties.

$7,000,000 ESTATE IS INHERITED BY WIDOW

J. P. Williams, Multi-Millionaire, Left No Will and Fortune Is Mrs. Williams'

J. P. Williams, multi-millionaire of 478 Peachtree, who died on August 5, died intestate, according to letters of administration granted by the ordinary to J. C. Johnston and R. A. McTyer and approved by his widow, Mrs. Cora B Williams. Mr. McAyer was the personal representative of Mr. Williams during the last few years of his life, and Mr. Johnston was closely associated with him.

Mrs. Cora B. Williams is named in the application as the only heir at law. This means that Mrs. Williams will come into control of the entire Williams estate, valued approximately at between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000.

The application for the letters of administration does not attempt to give the value of the real property of the estate, but places the personal property at $100,000.

If, as the application filed in the ordinary court states, Mr. Williams died without leaving a will, Mrs. Williams will become the wealthiest woman in the south by being heir to the enormous estate.

The estate consists of 90 per cent of the stock of the Georgia, Florida and Alabama railroad, a quarter of a million acres of farming, timber and cut-over lands in Georgia and Florida, and other real estate of great value.

This estate will be in competent hands when Mrs. Williams assumes control. During the past few years her husband was an invalid, and it was mainly through Mrs. Williams that he directed his lieutenants in his various enterprises.

According to men close to husband and wife during the last few years Mr. Williams possessed great financial ability. She learned from her husband and all his successful methods are hers.

SHE WILL HANDLE FORTUNE.

Mrs. Williams' friends state that it is her intention to handle the estate herself. Another rumor states that at the next board meeting of the Georgia, Alabama and Florida railway, of which she owns 90 per cent of the stock, the board of directors will elect her president to succeed her husband.

Mr. Williams moved to Atlanta four years ago, an invalid broken in health. He lived very quietly and he and Mrs. Williams spent almost all their time at their home in Peachtree street, which is the old Walker Inman home at the corner of Howard street.

Mr. Williams amassed his enormous fortune through his own endeavors. He came out of the Confederate army in 1865 without a cent and commenced chopping pine trees for $1 a day in a turpentine camp. He then went into the lumber business. After twenty years he had amassed a fortune of $400,000.

He went to Savannah and started a naval stores firm under his own name and was successful from the start. He soon had the biggest business of that kind in the world. Six or seven years ago he sold out his interest which was valued at $3,400,000.

His other donations went to Emory college, of which he was at one time president of the board of trustees.

Mr. Williams was one of the best known men in Georgia, and was also well known throughout South Carolina and Florida. Many men closely associated with him attained great fortune, a few becoming millionaires, while all who had his friendship in business became wealthy.

TAX REFORM BILL WILL BE SETTLED BY SENATE MONDAY

Substitute to House Measure Set as Special Order and Debate Limited to Five Minutes in Order to Dispose of It

HOT FIGHT IS EXPECTED OVER MINORITY REPORT

Senate Disagrees to Unfavorable Recomendation on Mothers' Rights Bill and Is Expected to Pass Substitute

Tax reform will occupy the attention of the state senate Monday afternoon. The bill offered by the committee as a substitute to the house measure is set for a special order when the senate convenes at 3 o'clock.

A bitter fight between those who favor a state officer or board and those who favor only county equalizers, is expected. The governor's message which was read to the senate Monday morning has been construed as meaning that he advocated some sort of state equalizer. This idea is carried out in the substitute bill offered by the committee.

But the bill has a minority report filed with it, signed by Senators Dubose, Richardson, Chennault and Bush. The minority report says that the substitute bill would work a hardship on the farmer and would not be acceptable to the people of the state at large. A bitter discussion on its merits is sure to ensue, but as the senate Monday morning passed a resolution limiting debate to five minutes to each member it is likely that some action on the bill will be taken Monday afternoon.

Several important general measures were adopted in the senate Monday morning. At the hour of adjournment the subject under discussion was the bill offered by Senator Hale and others, which applies to the present garnishment law. By its provisions, as reported by substitute, all people, whether mental or physical workers, have their wages subject to garnishment. If a salary is over $50 a month and under $100 half of it is subject to garnishment. If $100 a month or over all of it is subject to garnishment. Debate on the bill was in progress when the senate adjourned at 1 o'clock. It probably will be disposed of before the tax bill is taken up at the afternoon session.

The senate passed the bill of Senator Hale's making it a misdemeanor to issue a check when the drawer has no funds in the bank with which to meet it. The bill provides that the drawer shall have thirty days in which to meet the check, and that he must have issued it "with intent to defraud." Debate on the bill was torrid, Senator McNell declaring that it would serve to help and shield "crooks" and swindlers more than any other measure passed in years. In the first place, he claimed, the bill was illegal in form and would not hold before the courts, and that with the thirty days' clause in it, it would be impossible to arrest the man until he had "skipped."

Senator McNell's bill allowing through freight trains carrying perishable freight to run through the state on Sunday, was passed.

The senate agreed to disagree on the report of the general judiciary committee which recommended that the measure known as the mothers' rights bill do not pass. Senator Smith told the senate that he had a substitute bill which he would offer at the proper time, and the senate almost unanimously agreed not to accept the unfavorable report of the committee.

The senate did not consider anything but general bills Monday, the rules committee having decided to put off all local bills until the tax question is disposed of.

HENDERSON, Ky., Aug. 11.—Rain began falling this morning, the first precipitation recorded in this section since the early part of the summer. Farmers had despaired almost of saving their tobacco crops.

Gov. Slaton Again Urges Equalization of Taxes

Shows Depleted Condition of Treasury and Even Partial Payment of Teachers Would Close State Institutions

Governor John M. Slaton Monday morning transmitted to the legislature the following message:

Aug. 11, 1913.

To the General Assembly:

In a former message, I declared it to be my purpose to keep you advised of the financial condition of the state.

Today the total available balance in the treasury is $75,510.25, of which about $25,000 will be necessary to pay the running expenses of this legislative session. I am paying the state sanitarium in semi-monthly installments, and on the 15th of this month a warrant must be drawn in its favor for about $20,000, thus leaving about $30,000 in the treasury, with no taxes in sight until fall. Each of the other institutions and departments of government must be maintained, and you will observe the condition of the treasury.

For the first time in thirty years the teachers have not been paid by August one dollar by the state, and you will perceive that a payment on the common school fund of even the amount given it by the constitution would have meant to close the asylum and prevent the collection of your per diem.

The borrowing power, under the constitutional amendment of 1911, is limited to the deficit occasioned only by delay in the collection of taxes, and must be repaid out of the taxes for the year in which the money is borrowed. If, by reason of excessive appropriations, the taxes shall have been exhausted in the fall of the year, the governor cannot borrow for the purpose of running the government, since he is not allowed to pay back out of the next year's revenue.

It is appropriate to say that in anticipation of the passage of the usual resolution empowering the governor to borrow, I believe I will be able to make satisfactory arrangements with patriotic financiers whose confidence has been increased by the manifest determination on your part to establish the finances of the state on a sound business basis.

It is well to remember that when money is borrowed now, it must be repaid in the fall, and but establishes a new period of postponement of obligations due to appropriations in excess of revenue.

TAX EQUALIZATION.

I further desire to submit to your consideration as lawmakers, and as representatives of the honor of the state, through whose actions are reflected the intelligence and moral tone of Georgia, the eternal justice of every man and county bearing his proportionate part of the public burden. The man worth a $100 who pays his 50

JOE AGLER SOLD TO JERSEY CITY CLUB

Atlanta Team's Star First Baseman Brings $3,000 to Local Association

Joe Agler, the star firstbaseman of the Atlanta team, has been sold to Jersey City in the International league for delivery immediately after the Southern league season closes.

Agler played with the Jersey City team before coming to Atlanta, and the fans there admired him greatly. He also is a great friend of Larry Schaffer, the manager of the Jersey City team.

Knowing that Agler would be drafted anyway, the Atlanta baseball association took advantage of the opportunity and sold Agler to the Jersey City club. The figure which he brought, although it has not been given out, is understood to be about $3,000.

DR. GEORGE BACHMAN GIVES TESTIMONY TO SHOW HARRIS SIMPLY HAZARDED A GUESS

Professor of Physiology at Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons Declares Dr. Harris Is the Only Doctor He Knows Who Would Undertake to Express the Opinion That Dr. Harris Did in Reference to Mary Phagan's Death

FRANK A NORMAL MAN, SAYS DR. T. H. HANCOCK WHO TOOK WITNESS STAND MONDAY AFTERNOON

Herbert G. Schiff, Frank's Young Assistant, Was Under Cross-Examination Several Hours Monday—He Said He Had Never Heard Complaint That Factory Clock Ran Five Minutes Fast and Denied That Frank Had Objected to His Firing Conley

Only two witnesses were examined at the Monday morning session of the trial of Leo M. Frank, charged with the murder of Mary Phagan. They were Herbert G. Schiff, assistant superintendent of the factory, who was under cross-examination the greater part of the morning, and Dr. George Bachman, professor of physiology in the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Bachman declared that Dr. H. F. Harris was the only physician he ever heard of who would express such an opinion as Dr. Harris had given from the witness stand previously. He said that an opinion as to the length of time that food had been in the stomach under most any circumstances would be but a hazardous guess, and that it would be utterly impossible to determine how long since food had been eaten by a post-mortem examination made nine or ten days after death of a body that had been embalmed. The embalming fluid, he declared, would add seriously to the difficulties of forming a correct opinion. The sum and substance of Dr. Bachman's testimony was that it was impossible to fix the time of little Mary Phagan's death by any analysis or examination of the food that was found in her stomach.

Dr. Bachman was not asked to testify in reference to Dr. Harris' declaration that Mary Phagan had suffered violence prior to her death, but it is probable that some of the experts who follow him will be asked in reference to this feature of the case.

Dr. T. H. Hancock, of the Atlanta hospital and part owner of that infirmary, was called by the defense as its first witness after the resumption of court Monday afternoon.

Dr. Hancock testified regarding a thorough physical examination which he made of Leo M. Frank, the accused, certifying that in every way so far as he could determine Frank is like other men in his physique.

During the afternoon other witnesses are expected to take the stand in further refutation of Dr. Harris' testimony. Dr. Willis Westmoreland, Dr. Thomas H. Hancock, and Dr. J. C. Olmstead have all been subpenaed, and each will give testimony, it is said, similar to that of Dr. Bachman.

Although Herbert G. Schiff was under cross-examination many hours very little was developed by his testmony. He admitted that Frank might have had time to do considerable work on the financial sheet Saturday morning, but steadily maintained that from two and a half to three hours would be required for the work and that Frank was accustomed to make up the sheet Saturday afternoon.

Solicitor Dorsey asked the witness if he did not know that the time clock at the factory ran about five minutes fast, and Schiff replied that he had no such knowledge. He also vigorously denied that he had sought to discharge the negro Jim Conley on account of his worthlessness and Superintendent Frank had objected. He admitted having seen blood spots on the office floor and that one of them had been smeared over with a white substance which looked like hasconline. On redirect examination, however, the witness declared that it was impossible to tell whether the hasconline had been smeared on top of te spots or the spots on top of the hasconline.

A disposition to hurry the trial of the Frank case as much as is consistent with justice, and even perhaps to attempt its conclusion this week, was indicated by Judge Roan, presiding, Monday afternoon, when shortly before court convened he stated privately that unless there was objection he would convene court next dark Monday afternoon, which would mean until about 6:30 o'clock instead of till 5:30 as heretofore. Judge Roan stated, however, that he had not made up his mind on this point.

Through Deputy Sheriff Plennie Minor it was learned that the jurors are in accord with this longer day plan of the judge.

For about ten minutes Monday morning before court convened Leo M. Frank, accused of the murder of Mary Phagan, examined the model of the pencil factory where the murder occurred and which has been introduced in evidence by his lawyers. The accused first obtained permission of the sheriff, and then in care of a deputy sheriff he entered the press anteroom, where the model had been stored, and looked over it carefully, paying particular attention to the representations of his office and the elevator shaft adjoining it. He made no comment.

At 9 o'clock Monday morning the Frank trial resumed, beginning its third week. With the defendant in court were his wife and his mother and an aunt-in-law, Mrs. Jacob Selig, with whom he had spent about half an hour chatting in a room adjoining court. The court room was filled again with spectators, many others being held back at the doors for lack of room inside.

SCHIFF TAKES STAND.

Herbert Schiff, assistant superintenden, resumed his place on the stand under cross-examination by the state. Solicitor Dorsey asked Schiff a number of questions concerning the financial sheet of the factory.

"This is the only paper that was worked on Saturday, is it not?" asked the solicitor.

"Yes," replied Schiff.

"How do you know it was done Saturday?"

"I didn't give him the data until Saturday."

"You did give him some of it before Saturday, though, didn't you?"

"No, sir."

There followed a number of questions regarding the composition of data for the sheet, and Schiff admitted that he gathered the details from the forewomen and foremen of the several departments and made the preliminary calculations preparatory to entering them on the financial sheet. The packing report, in the handwriting of Miss Emily Mae Browers (according to the witness), was explained by Schiff to the jury as a sample of all the reports handed to him by the heads of departments.

"Was it necessary for Frank to wait till Saturday in order to get this data from you? Couldn't he do it as well himself?"

"I suppose he could do it. He never has done it before, though."

"Don't you know that he's an expert?" asked the solicitor, pointing to Frank.

"No, sir."

"Don't you know that he's such an expert that you haven't been able to make up a financial sheet since he left the factory?"

NOT AN EXPERT.

"No, sir. I don't consider him such an expert. It isn't so much because we can't make up a financial sheet without him as that we haven't had the time and opportunity to do it."

There followed more questions of a technical nature about the financial sheet. The solicitor endeavored to gain the admission from Schiff that the preparation of the sheet would not require so long as had been represented. In answer to questions, Schiff said that the work Frank did on the financial sheet was no more complex than the calculations he had to make himself. Schiff answered all questions promptly and fully—so fully, in fact, that Solicitor Dorsey on several occasions interrupted his answer to put other questions. Once Attorney Arnold interrupted the solicitor with the exclamation, "Give the witness time to answer." Mr. Arnold then turned to the witness, and said, "Mr. Schiff, take your time. Don't get excited."

Schiff went into details concerning the finance sheet, explaining the entries concerning various brands of pencils.

"Then Frank didn't put all those figures down here?"

"No, just the last two lines."

"Frank would have to have only four

President's Corpse Riddled at Funeral By Soldiers of Hayti

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Instead of obeying orders to present arms, the military escort to the body of Tancrede Auguste, late president of Hayti, aimed their rifles at the casket and riddled it with bullets, according to Marfield Kemp, of Lexington, Ind., a young engineer employed by the National railroad of Hayti, who reached here from Port Au Prince today. The shooting occurred in the cathedral of St. Mary, Mr. Kemp said.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS IN DENVER FOR CONCLAVE

Seventy-Eight Special Trains Bearing 25,000 Knights Arrive Monday

(By Associated Press.)

DENVER, Aug. 11.—It was estimated that 18,000 Knights Templar arrived in Denver yesterday and last night to attend the thirty-second tri-ennial conclave which was informally opened Saturday night. Seventy-eight special trains, bearing 25,000 other knights, were scheduled to arrive today.

Each train with its load of Templars was met by an escort from the Colorado commanderies, and marched to hotels.

Among the most interesting of the early arrivals today were the 200 members of California commandery, No. 1, who will form the escort of honor to Grand Master William B. Melish during the conclave.

This evening is to be spent by the Templars generally in a reception to grand encampment officers and members by Denver commandery, No. 25, at a theater. A second reception to the same Knights will be given later at El Jobel temple by Colorado commandery, No. 1.

Public interest in the conclave is divided between the dress parade to be held tomorrow morning and the horse show and ball at the stadium on Thursday night. Nine thousand tickets have been issued for this fete.

AMERICANS LEAD AS SUGAR USERS

Eight Billion Pounds Consumed in Year Ending June 30

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Americans continue to be the greatest consumers of sugar in the world, a fact set forth in figures issued today by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. In the fiscal year of 1913, ending June 30, the United States used approximately eight billion pounds of sugar, an amount never disposed of before in any twelve months.

Of this avalanche of sweetness, fully one-half was imported from foreign countries, one-fourth came from the nation's island possessions and the remainder was produced at home. Cuba supplied the greatest amount of any nation, her contribution being nine-tenths of all sugar received from abroad, exclusive of the island possessions. Of these Hawaii contributed the greatest amount, Porto Rico and the Philippines following in the order named.

"The figures indicate that the United States is clearly at the head of the list of sugar consuming countries," says the bureau in its report, "the figures of the current year suggesting a consumption of more than eight billion pounds, while the latest available figures indicate a consumption in India of about six billion pounds, in Great Britain over three and three quarter billion, Russia three billion and Germany two and three-quarter billion."

Sugar produced within the United States, the report sets forth, was only one-third cane sugar, the remainder being derived from beets.

SON OF A MILLIONAIRE DIES IN AN ALMS HOUSE

(By Associated Press.)

AURORA, Ills., Aug. 11.—Wilfred Fabian Kalliston, porter in a saloon at Geneva, who for 25 years has been the butt of village jokers because he once said his father was immensely wealthy, told the truth. It was learned today after he died at the county almshouse. In his clothing were found papers showing him to be the son of Carl Kalliston, cutlery manufacturer at Eskilstuna, Sweden.

Young Kalliston differed with his family and recently refused to return to Sweden to claim his share of an estate of several millions.

GENERAL STRIKE IS CALLED IN ITALY

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Aug. 11.—News has been received here of the burning of the Duren house, a large boarding house at Coolidge, yesterday.

Revenue Men, Minus Warrants, Release Many Moonshiners

DALTON, Ga., Aug. 11.—Deputy Collector J. F. Camp added another to the number of distilleries destroyed, before returning home yesterday. With a party of six he set out from Valley Head, Ala., and found, on the line between Catoosa and Walker counties, a seventy-five-gallon still in operation.

The officers surprised the outposts who were stationed to warn those operating the still of a raid, and all were captured. The officers, however, did not hold warrants, and the men were released. They will be rearrested later. The still made the third one raided by Mr. Camp since his appointment last week.

Mystic "7" Proved Hoodoo for Three

ANNISTON, Ala., Aug. 11.—A peculiar coincidence which revolves around the mystic number "7" is being related in connection with the death of Probate Judge W. H. Cooper, of this county. Last year Mr. Cooper, while at a resort with former County Commissioner P. Morgan, and while there the two became acquainted with a Mr. rumpton, of Maplesville. On the 7th day of May, Mr. Crumpton passed away similarly, and on the 7th day of August, last Thursday, Judge Cooper died. All three were robust men when they met at the resort.

THIRD MAN TRIED FOR SINGLETARY MURDER

Father and One Son Already Convicted While Second Faces Court

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

JACKSON, Ga., Aug. 11.—The August term of Butts county superior court will convene on the 18th with Judge R. T. Daniel presiding.

The most important murder case is that against Alonzo Turner, charged with being an accomplice in the murder of Jesse Singletary, at Indian Spring on August 26, 1911, when a party of white citizens who had been to Indian Spring were fired upon from ambush. Young Singletary was killed and J. R. Conner wounded.

Bill Turner, father of four boys, was convicted of the crime and executed in December, 1911, and J. C. Turner was given a life sentence.

AMERICAN SENTENCED TO PRISON IN KOREA

James Mason Must Serve 18 Months for Killing Assailant of 12-Year-Old Girl

(By Associated Press.)

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 11.—James Mason, American manager of the gold mines at Un-San in northern Korea, was sentenced today to eighteen months penal servitude on a charge of manslaughter for killing a Chinese mine employe who in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Mason committed a criminal assault on a twelve-year-old girl. In his defense today Mason pleaded the "unwritten law," but was condemned. An appeal against the sentence was entered.

Sixty-five Americans are employed in the Un-San mines which are among the most productive in Korea.

HATFIELD BEGINS LIFE SENTENCE IN CHAINGANG

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., Aug. 11.—The Whitfield county convict gang got the services of Dan Hatfield, convicted of the murder of Will Parrish, and this morning he will begin his life sentence.

Hatfield shot Will Parrish, in North Dalton, Saturday night, July 12. During the recent term of superior court, he was convicted of murder, without recommendation, but Judge Fite exercised his right where a conviction comes on circumstantial evidence, and passed a life sentence.

MR. JOSEPH H. MOORE IS DEAD AT TUNNEL HILL

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., Aug. 11.—Mr. Joseph H. Moore, one of the most prominent residents of the northern part of the county, dropped dead at his home at Tunnel Hill yesterday afternoon. Mr. Moore was seventy-six years of age and is survived by five sons.

During the civil war, Mr. Moore was a member of Forrest's cavalry. He was a member of the county board of jury revisers.

Show "Rainbow Flag"

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—"The rainbow flag," emblematic of universal peace, which is to be presented by the state of New York at the dedication of the temple of peace at The Hague, where it will be placed in a group of peace flags, obtained by all the nations of the world, is on exhibition for the first time today in the governor's room in the city hall.

China Riots

AMOY, Aug. 11.—Government troops were dispatched from here last night in pursuit of the Tungan tribesmen who recently killed a number of Formosans here. The riots led to a demand from the Japanese government for an indemnity and for the execution of the leaders of the tribe. Strong resistance is expected from the tribesmen.

Peach Crop Short

ROME, Ga., Aug. 11.—The peach crop in this section this year was very short, due to the extreme cold weather during the early days of the crop development. Very good prices were realized, however, and this season was not an unprofitable one to the orchardmen.

Human System Poisons Itself

Otherwise Most of Us Would Live to Be Methuselahs.

Scientists say that almost every moment we are poisoning ourselves. Auto-intoxication, Uric Acid Poisoning. Eliminate Autotoxemia, and we could live to be hundreds of years old.

All food eaten lays in the stomach some waste, unused particles. This waste ferments and generates uric acid, and when uric acid gets in the blood it poisons the system—self-poisoning. Constipation, indigestion, biliousness, dyspepsia, sick headache, languidness and a weakened physical condition all result from self-poisoning.

JACOBS' LIVER SALTS flushes stomach and intestines, dissolves the uric acid which has accumulated and expels it with the fermenting waste.

Take JACOBS' LIVER SALT in the morning before breakfast. You will do a better day's work, and live longer.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT is better than calomel for constipation and biliousness. Acts quickly and more thoroughly, requiring no cleansing after-dose of oil; causes no after-danger of salivation; never gripes or nauseates. It effervesces agreeably. No other liver tonic has the same mild, natural flushing action, though many imitations (in name) are offered. Insist that your druggist supply the genuine JACOBS' LIVER SALT. If he cannot, full size jar mailed upon receipt of price, 25c, postage free. Made and guaranteed by Jacobs' Pharmacy Co., Atlanta.—(Advt.)

INTERNATIONAL TYPOS GATHER AT NASHVILLE

President James M. Lynch Calls 59th Annual Convention to Order

(By Associated Press.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 11.—With 700 delegates present the fifty-ninth annual convention of the International Typographical union was called to order here this morning in the state capitol by President James M. Lynch at 9:30 o'clock. The opening address was by Thomas J. Daugherty, of Nashville, chairman of the convention committee. Rev. Rufus W. Weaver, of the Immanuel Baptist church, offered up prayer. The welcome of Nashville was extended by Mayor Howse and B. A. Hill for the local unions. The State Federation of Labor welcomed the delegates through President John P. Cassel, while the Nashville board of trade was represented by K. T. McConnico. The response on behalf of the I. T. U. was by President Lynch.

The opening session was confined principally to addresses and very little real business was transacted until the second day's session.

Several committees have been at work here for the past few days and it is understood the committee on laws, one of the most important, will be ready to report soon.

The social features today were a trolley ride at 1 p. m., a baseball game at 3:30. Tonight the delegates will witness "The Tennessean," a play written by Miss Will Allen Dromgoole, of Nashville, and staged by an eastern stock company, at the Orpheum theater.

Town Routs Railroad Under Official's Nose

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 11.—Seventy-five officials and citizens of Rosedale, a suburb of Kansas City, Kan., today put the finishing touches to the regraded street where yesterday the Kansas City and Olathe interurban tracks forcibly were torn up and the roadbed reduced to grade.

"We have been oppressed by this railroad long enough," Mayor Wimmer, of Rosedale, said today. "If they won't give us justice, we shall take it."

More than a score of the Rosedale patriots under command of John Brawley, town marshal, remained on guard at the railway crossing all night.

The dispute which came to its yesterday's clash began several months ago when the city reduced the grade of the street five feet at the point where the railway crosses and ordered the railroad to lower its roadbed to conform. This, city officials allege, the railroad refused to do. So Mayor Wimmer, with his town marshal, his armed patriots, his plow, scraper and teams, went yesterday and took away the hump—literally from under the nose of the railroad people, for W. B. Strang, head of the railroad, stood by powerless.

When the road's attorney-in-chief, E. S. McAnany, tried to interfere, Marshal Brawley took him to jail, where after some parley he was released on bond.

INSPECTORS SHIFTED IN SOUTHERN DIVISION

Thomas Baine, of Georgia, May Get New Place in Postal Service

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The resignation of Captain William B. Smith, inspector in charge of the Tennessee-Alabama division of postoffice inspectors, may cause changes in assignments in various divisions of the south and west.

William McHenry, formerly chief clerk in the Chattanooga division, has been summoned to Washington to receive instructions, presumably charge of the Denver district, but it is said that he may be assigned to Chattanooga, while Thomas Baine, who has been working Georgia, may secure the place. Former Inspector Rossen, who has worked in Georgia, Tennessee and Alabama is also mentioned.

Captain Smith has had charge of the Chattanooga division over six years, and retires on account of his health.

CLOUDBURST RENDERS 50 FAMILIES HOMELESS

Rain at Colorado City Causes $100,000 Damage to Town and Country

COLORADO CITY, Col., Aug. 11.—Damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by a cloudburst last night, of which this city bore the brunt. Crops were badly damaged, county roads were so badly washed that they will require thousands of dollars to repair, and at least fifty families were rendered homeless by the flood.

Dozens of homes on Colorado avenue were flooded from three to five feet deep. No deaths have been reported.

Youngest of Navy's "Callow Youths" Is Just 42 Years Old

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—With real enthusiasm officials of the navy department are prepared to send to the house information concerning the alleged employment of "callow and inexperienced Youths" in the dental reserve corps of the navy. Minority Leader Mann charges that such fledglings were being recruited for the reserve organization and forced the adoption by the house of a resolution of inquiry.

Finishing touches are being put on the report today and in addition to the letter of general denial will go three "exhibits" in the shape of the ages and life histories of the only three recruits so far sworn in.

Their combined ages aggregate 174 years, the youngest "youth" being forty-two and the oldest "inexperienced and immature" practitioner, acknowledging to having passed his seventy-sixth milestone.

Resolutions of inquiry are looked upon by department officials as being, in many cases, sources of much trouble and almost unending explanations. The navy officials, however, do not believe the dental reserve corps investigation will be pressed when the report reaches the house.

They Prayed for Rain: It Rained Before the Service Was Finished

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Prayers for rain in the parched regions of the west were offered yesterday in several Chicago churches. During the services the tattoo of showers on the roofs testified to the bounty of nature in northern Illinois.

Many of the ministers discussed experiences of drouths of other years to show the efficacy of prayer, some of them giving authentic instances when prayers for rain were answered within a few hours.

FARMERS HEAR RESULTS OF CROP EXPERIMENTS

Institute at Cairo Proves Valuable Facts About Profits to Georgia Planters

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Aug. 11.—The Farmers' institute held in Cairo a few days ago was very successful. Chairman J. R. Wright gave a preliminary talk on the benefit to the farmers of holding these institutes.

In the discussion of the first subject, "Food Crops," Mr. Wight showed that a fair profit of ten bales could be raised in this section as well as spring ones and he demonstrated how to plant and fertilize them for the purpose.

Dr. Eugene Clower, who has a model farm near Cairo, told of his experiment in growing cotton. He kept an accurate account of all his expenses, profits, etc., and found at the end of two years that he had lost money. He next decided to try sugar cane, but with the same result. He then began to grow corn, potatoes, oats, hogs, beef cattle, etc., and the balance on his ledger now shows a profit.

W. B. Roddenbery, in a talk on "Live Stock," stated that he bought last fall eighty-two common steers and kept them for four months, feeding on Japanese cane, velvet beans, cotton seed meal and hulls. He sold them this spring at a profit of $4.87 per head, this spring at a profit of $4.87 per head. He also estimates that the fertilizer from the stock was worth $1,000.

A number of other interesting talks were made by those present, who were among the best farmers in this section. The next meeting will be held the first Friday in September and the program for it is being arranged.

SEVENTEEN MILITANTS GIVEN PRISON TERMS

Sylvia Pankhurst, Leader in Attack, Is Returned to Serve Old Sentence

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Seventeen militant suffragettes were sentenced today to terms of imprisonment ranging from a week to two months as a sequel to yesterday's attempt to storm Premier Asquith's official residence.

Sylvia Pankhurst, leader of the storming party, was not among the prisoners, as she had been taken direct to Holloway jail to serve another portion of her previous sentence.

Cashier Dies

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

FORT GAINES, Ga., Aug. 11.—Mr. Berry Burnett, assistant cashier of the Union Savings bank, of this place, died at the home of his brother, John Burnett, Saturday morning at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Burnett had been in bad health for several years, but was able to attend to his duties until a few days ago. He leaves two brothers, W. C. and John Burnett; a sister, Mrs. Will Holmes, of Florala, Ala. He was a member of the Baptist church and a Mason.

MUTILATED BODY OF YOUNG WOMAN FOUND

No One Yet Has Been Able to Identify Girl Found Dead in Marsh

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—A young woman was found murdered shortly before midnight in a patch of marsh gorund near Spuyten Duyvil creek, northern extremity of Manhattan island. Her throat had been cut from ear to ear, her hands were badly lacerated, and torn clothes and footprints in the vicinity bore evidence of struggles.

The body was found by Frank C. Allen, who was taking a short cut across the lots to his home in the vicinity. He stumbled over the body, which was still warm. An ambulance surgeon said the woman probably had not been dead more than two hours.

The woman was about thirty years old, had chestnut brown hair, regular features and weighed about ninety pounds. Her height was five feet five inches. She was neatly clothed in a white shirt waiste, a black skirt, black stockings and tan shoes. The police believe that she was decoyed to the lonely spot, but the motive is unknown. If the woman had any purse or jewelry with her at the time it may have been robbery, but she had none on her person when found. There was no clue of any sort that seemed to lead to her identification.

Saloons of 'Frisco Closed for 4 Hours By State Statute

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—San Francisco saloons were closed for four hours early today making the first time retail liquor traffic has been interfered with by statute.

A new state law, which became effective at midnight, makes it illegal to sell, give or deliver liquor between 2 and 6 a. m.

$50 for "Cussin'!"

DALTON, Ga., Aug. 11.—The heaviest punishment ever meted out in recorder's court here went to Tom Worley, who, on entering a plea of guilty to using the streets as a place to rid himself of a choice assortments of oaths, was fined $50 and sentenced to work twenty days on the city chain-gang.

ARMY ORDERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Army orders:

Orders of July 26 relating to Major William F. Jackson, Third infantry, are revoked.

Colonel William T. Russell, corps of engineers, will report to this city for duty in the office of the chief of engineers.

First Lieutenant Allen Rutherford, Fifth infantry, is assigned for temporary duty at Camp Perry, thence to proper station.

Orders of August 5, relating to Major C. W. Otwell, corps of engineers, are revoked.

By direction of the president, First Lieutenant B. T. Scheer, Twenty-eighth infantry, will report to Brigadier General C. R. Edwards, Texas City, for examination by the retiring board.

By direction of the president, First Lieutenant John Franklin, Seventh infantry, is relieved of duty with the University of Moscow, and will join his regiment.

First Lieutenant D. W. Strong, Seventh infantry, is relieved at Fort Leavenworth and will join his regiment.

Mr. James L. McCall Dead

ABBEVILLE, Ga., Aug. 11.—Mr. James L. McCall, of the Sibbie district, died Saturday and was buried at Pine Grove Baptist church Sunday. He was one of the well known citizens of this county. He was a gallant Confederate soldier of the Civil war and was about seventy years old.

He had been justice of the peace for the Sibbie district for the last twenty-five years. He was a member of the Baptist church.

Mother and Son Killed

PLANO, Tex., Aug. 11.—Mrs. Arch Hughston and her son, aged three years, were killed tonight when an automobile in which they were riding with Mr. Hughston and three other children, collided with an interurban car at a grade crossing near Plano. The other occupants of the automobile were slightly injured.

TAX EQUALIZATION BILL IS EXPLAINED

New Substitute Measure Should Increase Annual Revenue of Georgia

The features of the senate finance committee's substitute for house bill No. 6, known as the Lipscomb bill, and which was passed in the house by the Sheppard substitute, were stated this morning.

The books of the state tax receivers shall be open from February 1 to May 1 of each year. Twenty days later the returns must be in the hands of the county boards of assessors.

The establishment of a board of county tax assessors in each county to be composed of three members and serve for a period of six years. One shall serve two years, another four years and the other six years.

Each board shall elect its chairman to serve two years.

Each board has authority to appoint a tax "discoverer" if one is needed. He shall receive 10 per cent of the amount of tax arising from his "discoveries."

The county board shall meet within twenty days after the tax books close and examine all returns on both real and personal property for the purpose of fixing a fair and just valuation. If any taxpayer is not satisfied with the action of the board he may seek arbitration through a board of three. He shall name one arbitrator, the board one, and these two shall select a third.

Revisions and assessments by the county boards must be completed by July 1 of each year and forwarded to the comptroller general.

The governor shall appoint a state tax commissioner for a term of six years at a salary of $3,000 per annum. He shall act as an assistant to the comptroller general and be provided with a clerk at a salary not exceding $1,000 per annum.

The state tax commissioner shall investigate all matters of taxation and recommend to the comptroller general such changes in the state tax laws as may bring about a more adequate system of taxation. He shall examine the tax digests in every county in the state. If it appears to him that in any one or more counties the taxable values are not reasonably uniform with the values fixed on like classes of property in other counties, he shall make an investigation and afterwards has the power to equalize the values. Such notice shall be given the chairman of the county board to immediately call a meeting and correct the valuation.

If dissatisfied with the changes and corrections ordered by the commissioner the county board has the right of appeal to arbitration as the individual taxpayer. The decison of the arbitrators is final.

It is the duty of the commissioner to pay an annual visit to the counties of the state to familiarize himself with the character and values of taxable property.

GEORGIA TEAM OFF FOR NATIONAL RIFLE SHOOT

State's Hopes Are on Sergeant W. S. Hale to Bring Back Championship

Georgia's entries for the national and international rifle matches at Camp Perry, O., left the Terminal station at 7 o'clock Monday morning.

They are fifteen in number, under command of Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash; fifteen marksmen who, in competition with other members of the state national guard, have proved themselves the best with the rifle that the state can boast.

The matches last from August 15 to August 30. In them are entries from every national guard in the United States, from the navy, the army, the marine corps, the military academy and the naval academy.

Georgia's hopes are centered in the three Hale brothers, and especially in Sergeant W. S. Hale, although each of the fifteen will do well.

Sergeant Hale last year won the world's championship, and in the tryouts this year beat his own record by a good margin.

SHELDON TOUCHES MANY WITH MUSIC AT ARMORY

Variations of Darky Melody and Opera Selections Prove Entertaining

Charles A. Sheldon touched a tender chord in the hearts of more than 2,000 people at the auditorium Sunday afternoon when he gave a remarkable series of the variations of the melody "Old Folks at Home."

Visiting merchants and manufacturers were the special guests of the occasion.

Mr. Sheldon also rendered difficult operatic themes and held his audience entranced for more than an hour, but the darky melody had more effect on the audience than the classical subjects. Among the other numbers given by Sheldon and rendered with more than ordinary effect was the prelude to Wagner's "Lohengrin."

MEMBERS OF ARSON TRUST FOUND GUILTY

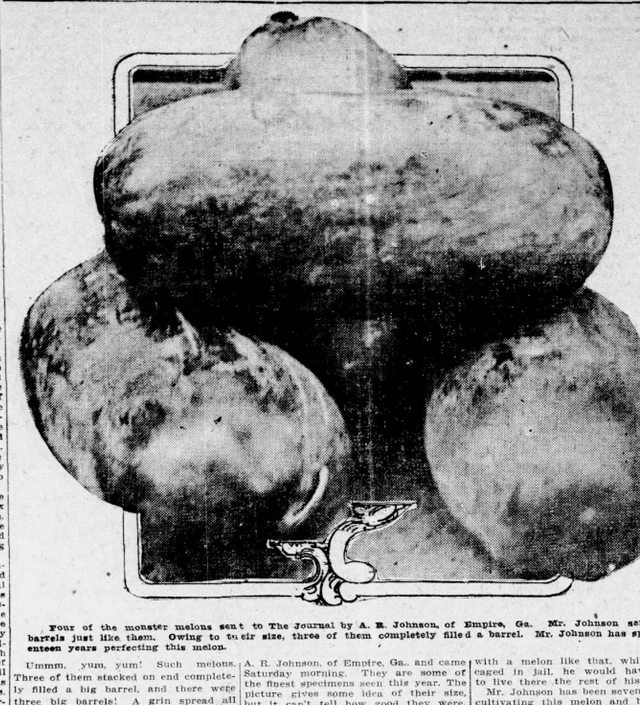
CHICGO, Aug. 11.—W. A. Harris and Max Covitz were found guilty of arson late today, making the second conviction in the alleged "arson trust" investigation.

They were accused of entering into a conspiracy to set fire to their clothing store, the stock of which had been heavily insured.

THREE CLASSES OF MEDICINES

are the Animal, Vegetable and Mineral, of which the Vegetable Kingdom furnishes by far the most and the best. Over 700 varieties of roots, plants and herbs are known by pharmacists to have medicinal value and probably the "Indian Medicine Man" knows of as many more. It was in this most interesting study, more than forty years ago, that Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., discovered her now famous Vegetable Compound for woman's ills, which has proved of incalculable value to hundreds of thousands of American women. Its wonderful success proves its merit.—(Advt)

SOME MONSTER GEORGIA WATERMELONS SENT TO JAMES R. GRAY BY A. R. JOHNSON



Four of the monster melons sent to The Journal by A. R. Johnson, of Empire, Ga. Mr. Johnson sent three barrels just like them. Owing to their size, three of them completely filled a barrel. Mr. Johnson has spent seventeen years perfecting this melon.

Ummm, yum, yum! Such melons. Three of them stacked on end completely filled a big barrel, and there were three big barrels! A grin spread all over the negro's face who unpacked them.

These melons were the gift to Editor James R. Gray, of The Journal, from A. R. Johnson, of Empire, Ga., and came Saturday morning. They are some of the finest specimens seen this year. The picture gives some idea of their size, but it can't tell how good they were. A knife was plunged into the biggest, the rhine ripped, and the melon in all its juicy lusciousness was unfolded. If Newt Lee's prayer had been answered with a melon like that, while he was caged in jail, he would have wanted to live there the rest of his life.

Mr. Johnson has been seventeen years cultivating this melon and bringing it to its present state of perfection. He is willing to back its size and qualities against any Georgia grown melon. He raises a large crop of them each year.

ZACHERY CASE HEARING TO BE HELD ON MONDAY

First Requisition Passage Between Blease and Slaton Attracts Interest

The hearing in the case of Julian J. Zachry, for whom Governor Cole L. Blease, of South Carolina, has issued requisition papers, has been postponed by Governor Slaton until Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock when both sides of the case will be thrashed out thoroughly before him. A mass of legislation that demanded his immediate attention kept Governor Slaton from hearing the case in the morning.

This is the first exchange of executive papers between the two governors and the outcome is of statewide interest in South Carolina and Georgia. Governor Blease and ex-Governor Brown were not on exchange terms in the matter of requisition papers.

The state of South Carolina is represented in the case by George Rembert, of Columbia, assisted by C. E. Dunbar, of Augusta. C. H. Cohen and Hamilton Phinizy, of Augusta, and John T. West, of Thomson, represent the defendant.

While Governor Slaton is not required, under the law, to examine into the merits of the alleged case where any one is charged with being a fugitive and for whom requisition has been drawn, still the attorneys for South Carolina are prepared to make specific showing of the violations charged.

It is understood that South Carolina will contend that pending an appeal from his ruling, Judge Gary exceeded his authority in granting Zachry custody of France, the minor child, and that Zachry violated the law when he took her from the jurisdiction of the South Carolina supreme court.

GEORGIA "RATTLER" MEASURES SIX FEET

EATONTON, Ga., Aug. 11.—Information has come in from the country telling of the killing of a rattlesnake on the farm of N. G. Maddox, seven miles out, which is rather reminding of the jungles of Africa, in the size of the snake and its deadly fangs. The rattler was killed by a negro named Peter Farley, who attacked it with an axe as it lay in its coil. The reptile when stretched out after being battered up by the negro, measured over six feet, and eight rattles and a button. It attracted a large crowd to view it when brought to the Maddox store, looking more like a reptile from the jungles of the tropics than from Putnam county farm. Its fangs when cut out are said to have measured a little more than half an inch.

THEATRES

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
GRAND—Motion Pictures.
BIJOU—Tabloid Musical Comedy.

Ralph Herz headlines the bill of Keith vaudeville that is the attraction this week at the Forsyth. It is his first appearance in Atlanta, and there are many people who have kept in touch with the happenings in things theatrical who are surely pleased with the idea of becoming acquainted with the musical comedy star.

Herz was the big feature of "Madam Sherry" when that great success was started, and his hit in "The Charity Girl" was also great, but his final great triumph was as the star of "Dr. DeLuxe." In vaudeville he has become a real favorite in the towns he has been introduced and in Atlanta he will be a star.

There are other features, including William A. Weston and company, who will present "Attorneys," the best novelty in vaudeville. There are several ladies and gentlemen in the combination, all of whom will prove that they are clever.

The other special feature will be the Adas Family, who were New York features with the Ringling show. Wood and Wyde, a clever singing and dancing duo, both of whom have registered good successes in musical comedy, will present a neat idea in song and dance, and Milo Belden and company promise a laugh-winning comedy sketch called, "Oh Doctor."

The Randalls, who are said to be entertaining sharpshooters, will be on the bill, as will Brangan and Saville, who, in addition to singing and dancing, will present a musical novelty that has won applause.

MRS. HARRY KROUSE DIES ON BIRMINGHAM VISIT

Prominent Atlanta Matron, Noted for Charity, Succumbs at Daughter's

News was received in Atlanta Sunday of the death of Mrs. Susie J. Krouse at the home of her daughter, Mrs Thomas L. Woodruff, in Birmingham, Saturday night.

Mrs. Krouse was a prominent Atlanta matron. She was interested in benevolent work and was for many years secretary of the Home for the Friendless. She was the daughter of Judge John Appleby, of Fayetteville, Ala.

Mrs. Krouse is survived by her husband, Harry Krouse, pioneer real estate dealer of Atlanta; one son, J. A. Krouse, of Atlanta; one daughter, Mrs. T. L. Woodruff, of Birmingham, and two sisters, Mrs. Jessie McGee, of Rome, and Mrs. Ashfort, of Gainesville.

The body will be brought to Atlanta Monday afternoon on the Birmingham Special and will arrive at 2:30 o'clock. It will be taken direct from the station to Oakland cemetery for interment.

ATLANTIANS ON HIKE FOR SMOKY MOUNTAINS

Four Young Men Are Off for Tramp From Franklin, N. C., to Virginia

Four young men of Atlanta drew a tight notch in their belts, hitched their knapsacks on their backs Saturday and started for a two weeks' walking trip through the Great Smoky mountains of West Virginia. They are Tilton H. Forbes, special agent of the Northwestern Life insurance company; C. J. King, of the Associated Press; Will Fort, son of J. P. Fort, of Mount Airy, Ga., and Elliott Cheatham, an attorney of the firm of Batchelor & Cheatham.

The young men will fish as well as tramp and will spend the night wherever darkness finds them. They left by train for Franklin, N. C., the terminus of the Tallulah Falls railway, from where they expect to strike through the mountains of North Carolina to the West Virginia border. They will return by the way of Lake Toxaway and Highlands, N. C.

SENATE PASSES BILL FOR W. & A. COMMISSION

House Called Upon to Take Immediate Action in Asking for Probe

Senator Longino's bill providing for a commission to investigate the state owned Western and Atlantic railway and submit their report at the next session of the legislature was passed unanimously Monday and immediately sent to the house. During this session of the legislature several resolutions regarding the railway have been introduced, but this is the only one that now exists as all the others were killed.

Under this bill a commission of ten shall be appointed to investigate the terms for the lease of the road for a term of thirty, fifty or 100 years, and also to investigate the advisability of double tracking. The report of the commission is to be made to the legislature when in session in 1914.

The commission is to be selected, three from the senate by the president of that body, five from the ouse by the speaker, and the remaining two by the governor.

The bill as it goes from the senate to the house carries no provision as to salaries of the commission members, nor does it provide when the commission shall convene. These provisions cannot originate in the senate, but if the house sees fit as it will undoubtedly do if it approves the resolution, the provisions will be made by amendments to the bill.

Several amendments to the bill were lost in its passage. One of them was that the state railroad commission conduct the investigation.

Boy May Lose Hand From Current That Held Him 15 Minutes

Max Roseberry, aged eight years, was climbing a tree in the yard of his home, at 418 East Georgia avenue, Saturday morning and caught hold to a charged wire in his effort to go higher than ever before. As a result he will lose one finger of his right hand and possibly the whole hand, although no other serious results are anticipated. He is the son of J. R. Roseberry, a merchant.

Mrs. Roseberry first discovered her child's plight, when she saw him hanging limp in the tree. The boy was holding to the wire with one hand, with both feet on a limb of the tree, his connection with the tree furnishing the circuit with the ground.

She screamed for help, thinking Max was dead. Neighbors came, but nobody knew what to do. It was not until fifteen minutes later that the boy was taken down when an electrical engineer passing on a street car saw the situation and using his rubber gloves took the boy down.

In a short time the boy was revived, and except for the injury to his hand and the nervous shock seemed to suffer no ill effect from his adventure. The police were called in, but the engineer had come to the aid of the child before their arrival.

BELIEVES STATE MIGHT SAVE BIG SUM ON BOOKS

C. R. McCroy Declares Primers Alone Could Effect $30,000 Reduction

Detailing a plan whereby the state could save the people of Georgia from $15,000 to $30,000 a year on school primers alone, C. R. McCroy has written a letter to The Journal in defense of the movement to have the state publish its own school books. The letter follows:

Atlanta Journal:

Please allow me space to present a few reasons why Georgia should not edit and have printed by competitive bids and sell to the children of Georgia at cost the school books. Take the primer only, just one book. According to report of State Superintendent Brittain we have in Georgia 142,057 pupils in the first grade. Each of these had to buy a primer at 25 cents. It is true that two other supplemental primers are sold in Georgia, but I will not count the cost of these. 142,057 at 25 cents each cost $35,513.

The Ontario primer costs 4 cents and an equal number can be purchased in Ontario for $5,682.08, making a difference of $29,831.92.

Now, some book agents claim that the text of the Ontario primer is inferior to the Georgia primer. For the sake of argument let's admit this is true. Suppose we use $15,000 a year to employ an expert to edit a primer only. The most ardent stickler for a proper text for the primer will admit we could employ a very good text writer for a primer at $15,000 a year. Then we would save to the people of Georgia $15,000 on the number now in use.

According to the last census of school children in Georgia there was an increase in Georgia school children between the ages of six and eighteen, 785,471.

Say we will only buy one-half the number of primers during the next nine years, then there will be an annual saving to the people of Georgia on primers alone of $15,000 or $150,000 saved in ten years.

Sincerely yours,
C. R. MCRORY.

reports in order to make up the finance sheet?

"That's all I gave him."

"What else do you think of that he would need?"

"Nothing."

"Don't you know that's all he needed?"

"That's all I think of."

"Do you have any idea when this work on the finance sheet was done?"

"Some time between Friday night and Monday morning."

"Did you see the finance sheet Monday morning?"

"I did not."

"If Frank started to work on the finance sheet at 8:30 Friday morning andworked until 10:30, would he have any trouble finishing most of it in that time?"

"I think not."

"Then if he left at 10:30 and got back at 11, then he would have had a full hour remaining in which to do these other things?"

"Yes, I suppose so.'

'Couldn't Frank have done all this in an hour and a half?"

"No, it would have taken him two hours and a half."

"Didn't you hear Frank say he could do it in an hour and a half?"

"I did not."

"This finance sheet and the entering up of the orders were all the work done on Saturday?" I know."

Schiff said that the record of $2 borrowed from Frank by Arthur White Saturday afternon was made in Frank's own writing; and promised the solicitor to produce that entry in court.

The solicitor brought out from the witness that an average of orders is placed, as a rule, on the financial sheet also. Some appeared on the sheet for the week ending just before the murder.

NO BALANCE NECESSARY.

Schiff declared that it was not necessary to balance the sheet.

Solicitor Dorsey forced the witness to admit that he had made a mistake in saying that certain orders must have been entered by Frank on Saturday. The witness admitted that they could have been entered before Saturday.

He had never know of Frank leaving on Saturdays before the financial sheet was published, said the witness. He said that Frank kept close to his work. After this statement the solicitor asked:

"You did hear him say Friday that he would try to go to the ball game Saturday afternoon?"

Judge Roan would not permit the witness to draw a conclusion as to whether Frank had finished his work in the morning in order that he might go to the ball game.

"Didn't you say at the coroner's inquest that it would take from one and a half to two hours if the data was ready, to make out the financial sheet?" demanded the solicitor.

"No, I said two and a half to three hours," said the witness.

"Didn't you swear before the coroner's inquest that it would take two and a half hours to get up the data and the financial sheet?"

"I don't remember."

"Wasn't this question asked you: 'It would take two and a half hours to get up the data and the financial sheet?' And didn't you reply, 'Yes, in the condition that he had it?'"

"If I made that answer, I misunderstood the question."

LOSE THEIR TEMPER.

When the questioning of Schiff began, the solicitor addressed his queries to the witness in a natural tone and the witness answered in like manner. By now, however, the solicitor was taking the witness roughly with his questions, and Schiff was answering loudly and angrily.

"If you swore at the coroner's inquest that it took Frank two and a half hours to get up the data and the financial sheet both, and now you say it took a longer time, tell the jury why you changed your statement."

"I may have misunderstood the question there. I say now it took him about three hours."

"Well, if he wasn't interrupted it would have been possible for him to complete it all, except about thirty minutes' work, by 12 o'clock, wouldn't it?"

"Yes, about that."

"Now, if he wanted to go to a ball game or chat with the woman, couldn't he have speeded up and finished it in two and a half hours?"

Attorney Arnold made the question. Judge Roan sustained the objection. Solicitor Dorsey amended his question, and the witness answered: "Not and make it look as good as it does."

"Your opinion is that it took him between two and a half and three hours, you say?"

"It is."

IT ALL DEPENDS.

"Every time you saw him make up this sheet he was working on it leisurely and not under pressure, wasn't he?"

"He was doing it like he always did."

"Is Frank faster than you?"

"Yes."

"How much?"

"I don't know."

"Didn't the coroner ask you the difference in the time it would take to make this sheet, as between you and Frank, and didn't you say he could finish it one-half hour quicker than you?"

"I don't think so."

"When you were estimating the length of time it would take, were you talking about yourself or Frank?"

"Frank."

"How long would it take to balance the $39 on the small cash account?"

"I said one and a half hours, before the coroner's inquest. But the length of time all depends on whether the account balanced or not."

"What do you say about it now?"

"I say just exactly what I said. It depends on whether it balances or not."

"How is it you are able to remember so distinctly where you were last Thanksgiving day?"

"The first thing I remembered, I was going to a football game at Athens, but couldn't go. I remembered distinctly telling Conley and the boy to come back to the factory, and I remembered helping Frank take his bundles to the car to go to the B'nai B'rith fair."

"What time did you leave the factory together on Thanksgiving?"

"About noon."

"Where did you go?"

"We walked over to the street car line, and Frank got on his car before nine came."

"Did you go back to the factory that afternoon?"

"No."

SOMEBODY TOLD HIM.

"How do you know where Frank was that afternoon, then?"

"A party told me."

"Oh, then, when you are telling the jury that Frank was at the fair that afternoon, you are only going on what somebody else told you?"

"Yes."

"Do you mean to tell the jury that you were at the pencil factory every Saturday afternoon?"

"I most certainly do. I have a record of never missing a day from my work, except for vacations, for five years."

"Aren't you a baseball fan?"

"I like to see a good game sometimes."

"Well, didn't you go often to the baseball games with Lemmie Quinn?"

EVIDENCE HELPS FRANK

MRS. ... HIPP.

Office assistant of Leo M. Frank, who declares that no women ever visited the accused superintendent's office on Saturday afternoons.

"I never was out with Quinn in my life."

"You say there are about 150 girls employed at the factory?"

"Yes."

"And you say that many were paid off Friday afternoon?"

"Yes."

"You say that out of all that number you remember Helen Ferguson being paid off?"

"I do."

"What makes you remember her?"

"I probably could tell you the names of 100 more that were paid off."

"All right, then, name about twenty-five."

HE NAMED FIFTEEN.

The witness named about fifteen.

"Name some who were paid off on the Saturday before."

"I don't know as I can."

"Why can't you?"

"Because after this murder I searched my memory to recall everything that happened."

"You have no doubt about Helen Ferguson being there?"

"None whatever."

"You say Holloway was there and Frank was there?"

"They were."

"How are your envelopes numbered?"

"From 1 to 200."

"Where are they numbered?"

"Different office boys number them differently, though they always put the number near the top, sometimes on one side and sometimes on the other."

"Before April 26, how long since you had seen that opening in the Clark Woodenware company?"

"I knew it was there before they left."

"There was no occasion for anybody to go in there, was there?"

"Yes, we stored shellac in there to keep it cool, near the door by the elevator."

"Are you sure there was a door there?"

"Yes."

"But after this murder there were boxes piled all around that door, weren't there?"

"Not that I know of."

"If a body had been dumped in there, the firemen would have passed back and forth constantly by the place where it would have landed, wouldn't he?"

"Yes, I should say he would."

"Was there any sign of any one having walked near the chute? Did you call their attention to anything of this kind?"

"I wasn't with the detectives."

ASKED ABOUT BLOOD.

"You noticed that blood on the floor, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"Did it look like a rat's blood, or blood from a finger cut, or what sort of blood did it look like?"

"I don't know. It just looked red, like blood."

"This white stuff smeared over it, what did it look like?"

"It looked like hascoline compound."

"It looked like it had been swept over the blood, didn't it?"

"Yes." The answer was given reluctantly.

"What about the open door in what we will call the Conley area—when did you discover that?"

"I saw it on Monday or Tuesday after the murder."

"And there were boxes piled all around there?"

"Yes."

"And you know that that door had been nailed up?"

"Yes."

Mr. Dorsey called the dates of a number of Saturday afternoons, on each of which Schiff claimed that he was at the factory.

"You tell the jury that you know you were at the factory on those dates, because you haven't lost any time, don't you?"

"I know I was there."

"You know that the factory closes down on Saturdays at 12 or 12:30, don't you?"

"Yes."

"Then you wouldn't be losing any time if you were not there on Saturday afternoons, would you?"

"I'd consider that I would be."

"Nobody has ever told you to come back Saturday afternoon?"

"They don't have to tell me what to do," answered the witness angrily.

"Where were you on October 15?"

"I don't even know the day of the week."

"Who sets the time clock at the factory?"

"Holloway or I."

DOES CLOCK RUN FAST?

"Is the clock exactly right?"

"Every time I check it, it is."

"Don't you know as a matter of fact that it is run five minutes fast all the time?"

"No, I don't."

"Do you keep Bars and unreliable people in the factory?"

"We have some there," answered the witness.

"Then you mean to say it's a custom to keep there people that you can't depend on?"

Mr. Arnold objected.

"I just want to know how they run things there," said the solicitor.

"We haven't time to go into that," said Judge Roan.

"When did you wake up to the fact that Conley was unreliable?"

"The first time I ever saw him, guess. Besides, I got lots of reports about him from the foreladies."

"Who are some of them?"

"Miss Carson and about twenty-five others."

"Why did you keep him?"

"Because he knew the work."

"DIDN'T try to fire him, and didn't Frank keep you from it?"

"No."

"Did you have authority to discharge him?"

"Yes, I did."

"You told the jury that you knew Conley was unreliable the first time you ever saw him two years ago. And yet you've had the authority all the time to fire him?"

"I said around the first time," answered the witness.

Solicitor Dorsey disputed this. "Yes, that's what he said," said Mr. Arnold. "Well, let's have the record on it," said the solicitor. Mr. Arnold spoke again. "It's immaterial," said he. "Let's don't take up time with that."

"I thought we wouldn't want to go into it," said Mr. Dorsey.

Judge Roan called for the record which showed that the witness had qualified his answer by saying "I guess."

"He hasn't been there all the time," continued Schiff. "He's been in the chain gang two or three times."

"So he's been in the chaingang three times, has he? You know that?"

"I know once I saw him working in front of the factory. And two other times women came to get money to get him out."

"So you say he was in the chaingang, do you?"

"Well, I'm not up on it. I knew that he's been arrested."

MR. ARNOLD OBJECTS.

Mr. Arnold objected to the solicitor's method of examination of the witness. "Your honor, he doesn't cross-examine the witness. He just quarrels with him. Mr. Arnold continued that it was natural that the witness should not know the difference between the stockade and the chaingang.

Solicitor Dorsey began to examine the witness about the old series of yellow order blanks, like the one on which one of the notes was written. Schiff said that they were to be found on the fourth floor in the packing room and outside the office.

"Now those three places are the only places in which they are to be found?"

"I think so."

"Then they are all on the office floor or above it?"

"Unless they have been swept up in the trash. I've been them in the basement," said the witness.

"How long since you've seen one of these blanks in the basement?"

"I have seen them there in the last three months."

"After the murder?"

"Before and after."

"What were you in the basement for, when you saw them?"

"My work carries me there."

"What do you have to do down there?"

"Well, I have to look over the packing boxes, for one thing. Then I have to see that the sawdust is carried out of the bin to the livery stable next door."

"Nobody has ever told you to come back Saturday afternoon?"

"These other tablets," asked the solicitor, holding up the white ruled sheets. "Where are they kept?"

"All over the factory, in all the departments."

"Who gives them out?"

"I do, sometimes."

"Name a person you've ever given them to."

"Well, I gave one to Joe Williams, a negro that works there, once."

"Who else?"

"I gave one to Jim Conley once. He said he wanted to write a letter home, and I gave him a stamp, too."

"Didn't you know Jim Conley's home was right here?"

"No, sir, I didn't."

"You knew Conley could write, then, did you?"

"I did."

"You say you would give these tablets to them on the office floor?"

"Yes."

"These negroes wouldn't carry them to the basement, then, would they?"

"They would go down there."

The witness testified in answer to questions that it was the custom of the negroes to eat in the basement frequently right opposite a gas jet near the boiler. He said that on one of these occasions he had seen Jim Conley writing on one of these tablets.

"You say Conley attracted your attention on Tuesday by his actions. Did you tell Frank about it? He was interested in getting the Pinkertons on the case right away."

"No, I intended to take it up to Mr. Darley."

TELLS OF STAIRWAY.

Solicitor Dorsey directed the witness' attention to the stairway leading from the office floor to the upper floors, and asked him if anyone wanting to look from thes office floor to the floor above wouldn't have to walk up the stairway a few steps. The witness answered affirmatively, adding in answer to another question that anyone wanting to look from the upper floor to the office floor would have to walk down the same distance.

"You said Conley said on Tuesday that he would give a million dollars to be a white man, did you?"

"I did."

"Did Conley change his appearance after Frank was arrested?"

"I didn't see him."

"Do you know whether White and Denham were working on the fourth floor on April 26?"

"Yes."

"How do you know?"

"Well, people told me."

"It's hearsay evidence, on your part?"

"Yes."

"Were you at the factory when detectives were making experiments as to whether or not the distance between the pencil factory and Montag's, which was operated, could be heard on the fourth floor?"

"I was there with some of them."

"Were you there when Sig Montag ran the elevator?"

"He didn't run it."

"Well, you were there, weren't you when it was run under his direction?"

"He was just standing there."

"Who was running it when Detective Starnes and Mr. Hooper went down into the basement one time?"

"I was, I guess."

"Were you there when Jim Conley went through the factory with the detectives?"

"Yes."

ARNOLD TAKES WITNESS.

Directing Schiff's atention to the diagram of the factory, the solicitor asked him to point out the spot where Conley said he dropped the body when he was carrying it. Attorney Arnold objected, unless the solicitor intended to impeach Conley's testimony. The solicitor declared that he did not want to impeach Conley, and withdrew the question. Solicitor Dorsey announced that he finished the cross-examination there, and Attorney Arnold took the witness for re-direct examination. Before Attorney Arnold began his questioning Judge Roan admonished him to be as brief as possible in examining the witness, and Attorney Arnold replied that he intended to proceed with all possible speed.

What time had this financial sheet usually been made, Mr. Schiff?" asked Mr. Arnold.

Solicitor Dorsey objected. "He's answered that," said the solicitor. Judge Roan said: "Mr. Dorsey, Mr. Arnold would like to know why it did it in the forenoon or the afternoon." Solicitor Dorsey replied: "He's answered that too."

"When you said it would take two and a half to three hours to make out the data and the financial sheet, and an hour and a half to make out the orders figuring on Saturday, did you mean with or without interruption?"

"I meant without interruption."

SOLICITOR OBJECTS.

Solicitor Dorsey objected. Attorney Arnold said that his object was to show that Saturday, although a half holiday at the factory, was the principal day of work for the office force. Judge Roan allowed the question. The witness replied that Saturday was quite a few interruptions usually on Saturday afternoons, from traveling salesmen, members of the Montag family, employes calling to get their envelopes and others.

"When was the first time Frank knew that you could get the data ready Friday afternoon?"

"I imagine it was Saturday morning when he phoned to my house."

Solicitor Dorsey objected to question and answer, and was sustained.

"Mr. Dorsey asked you if this finance sheet, dated April 26, showed a comparison of work and production for that week with the work and production of other weeks. Do you find such a comparison on other finance sheets?"

The witness examined several finance sheets and said he did not find that comparison.

"Then this finance sheet doesn't differ from those for several months back?"

"It does not."

"Could whether these orders are not sometimes acknowledged before the requisitions are made out?"

"They are sometimes."

"In all the years you've been at the pencil factory, did you ever know the finance sheet to be made out at any other time except Saturday afternoon?"

Solicitor Dorsey objected and the form of the question was changed slightly.

The witness replied that Saturday afternoon was the only time he had ever known it to be made out.

NO COMPLAINTS ABOUT CLOCK.

"Have you ever heard any complaints from the employes about the time clock being incorrect?"

"I never did."

"Mr. Dorsey's picture shows nothing in the Clark Woodenware department, does it?"

The witness examined the state's diagram and claimed to find several discrepancies.

"Did Frank ever bring his wife to the factory on Saturday afternoon to assist him in shorthand work?" I do.

"He did, several times."

"That white stuff didn't hide the red spots, did it?"

Solicitor Dorsey objected, and the form of the question was changed. The witness replied that he couldn't tell whether the white stuff or the blood spots was on top.

"This white stuff was scattered all around, wasn't it?"

"Yes."

"They never took much trouble to clean it up, did they?"

"No, they usually just swept over it."

"You were asked by Mr. Dorsey why you didn't fire Jim Conley. State whether or not it is an easy matter to teach new employes."

"It is not an easy matter."

"Then sometimes you kept employes who might not be strictly honest, rather than go to the trouble of teaching new employes how to do their work?"

"That's correct. Yes, sir."

"You were asked if you knew whether Conley could write. Did you know that he was denying he could write?"

"I did not until the detectives came to the factory to investigate that subject."

"They found out at the factory that he could write, didn't they?"

"I think they did, yes sir."

"That basement was a sort of a rendezvous for the negro employes, wasn't it?"

"Yes."

"Jim Conley was familliar with the basement, wasn't he?"

"I should say he was."

WHERE RECORDS WERE KEPT.

"Do you know where the empty cotton sacks were kept?"

"Yes."

"Was it inside or outside of the metal room?"

"It was outside."

"Do you know if there were any empty sacks there on Saturday?"

"I know we had gotten a new supply of cotton on Friday, and usually when we got a new supply we took out the empty sacks."

Solicitor Dorsey took the witness for recross-examination.

"You had no objection to coming to my office, did you?"

"No, I offered to come."

"And your employers had hired detectives, and they wanted the factory employes to do everything they could to find the murderer, didn't they?"

CLASH BETWEEN COUNSEL.

Mr. Arnold objected to the question as irrelevant. "Well, you asked him about subpoenas, didn't you?" said Mr. Dorsey. "I simply wanted to show a species of legal duress," returned Mr. Arnold. "You didn't show it," remarked Mr. Dorsey. "I didn't by this witness, for he said he was not subpoenaed," retorted Mr. Arnold, "but I have a number of others. I would have just as much right to subpoena his honor to come to my office, as you would have to subpoena these factory employes to yours."

Mr. Dorsey continued. The witness said he did not remember Frank ever having gone to the ball game on Saturday afternoons. The witness argued with the solicitor over the distance between the pencil factory and Montag's, but the argument was without material result.

"What time Monday did you observe Jim Conley's strange bearing?" asked Mr. Dorsey.

"7:30 or 8 o'clock."

"What time did you go with Detective Starnes to arrest Gantt? After you had observed this suspicious man?"

The witness said at first he didn't remember, but said later it was after the plant had closed down.

"What time was it you observed Conley's strange bearing?"

"I don't remember."

"You say that Frank never went to a baseball game or a matinee on Saturday afternoon?"

"Yes, because I was at the factory with him."

"No."

"Describe those pictures."

"I think of only one, a calendar," said the witness.

"You don't know, do you, whether or not the detectives had found out Conley could write before they went to the factory with him?"

The witness said he had no way of knowing.

Another argument followed over the details of the metal room, the witness maintaining that the closing or the opening of the shutters of the windows on the north side of the factory made no very material difference on the light that would be thrown on the blood spots. The witness said that hascoline is a powder when dry, and a sort of paste when wet. Mr. Arnold questioned the witness again.

"Can you shut off the light at the back of the pencil factory?"

"No, sir."

"Is there any way to keep the metal room dark between 12 and 1 o'clock?"

"There is not."

"Did you ever see Frank talk to Mary Phagan?"

"I did not."

Solicitor Dorsey asked a question.

"Mr. Schiff, the windows on the office floor look out onto the roof of the adjoining building on the north, do they not? And it is open at the back of the building, isn't it?"

"Yes."

PROF. BACHMAN CALLED.

Prof. George Bachman was called as the next witness.

The witness testified that he is professor of physiology in the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons. Previously he occupied a similar chair in the Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia. He talked with a French accent.

"What nationality are you, professor?"

"An American citizen." In answer to another question he said that he was born in France and studied physiology there.

"Do you make experiments? Are you one of those young doctors?" asked Attorney Arnold with a smile.

"I make experiments, but I am not a bacteriologist," said the witness.

"Do you understand digestion, and the functions of the stomach and the other digestive organs?"

"I teach that subject."

After a few other preliminary questions to qualify the witness, Attorney Arnold asked: "How long does it take cabbage to digest, professor?"

"It takes about four and a half hours before it leaves the stomach."

In answer to another question, the witness said that the major work of digesting cabbage is done in the small intestine after it leaves the stomach, although its digestion begins in the mouth. He said that bread or biscuit would hardly pass out of the stomach in less than three hours.

WOULD BE A GUESS.

"What time would you put down, professor, to pass out cabbage which had been cooked an hour, mixed with biscuit?"

"It depends on conditions," replied the witness.

"Why can't you formulate a rule on the length of time it will take cabbage and bread to pass out of the stomach?"

"There are too many factors to consider. The digestion might be arrested or retarded in many ways."

The witness testified in answer to a number of other questions by Attorney Arnold that poorly masticated cabbage might have a tendency to retain a large share of other food in the stomach, even if the other food was digested. Attorney Arnold then asked: "It would be a wild guess, wouldn't it, professor, to state absolutely the length of time that food has been in the stomach?"

"It would be a guess; yes."

"Isn't it a fact that only one and one-half per cent of cabbage is acted on in the stomach?"

"About that, yes, sir. It is acted on partly in the mouth."

"What acts on it there?"

"The saliva."

The sample of cabbage taken from the stomach of Mary Phagan by Dr. H. F. Harris was brought into court.

"Does that look like a well masticated piece of cabbage?"

"It looks like it was not masticated at all."

"Would a piece of cabbage in that condition act on the pylorus to prevent food passing out of the stomach?"

"It certainly would."

"As to degrees of acidity in the stomach, the acidity may rise quickly and decline slowly, may it not?"

"Yes, sir."

"When the acidity reaches a certain height, then it begins to descend, does it not?"

"Yes, sir."

"Now, if you find thirty-two degrees of acidity in a dead body, how can you tell whether the acidity was on the ascending scale?"

"There would be no way of telling, if the body were dead, although you could tell by tests of the stomach of a living person."

"What acts on food in the small intestines?"

"The pancreatic juices."

"What effect would embalming fluid have on them?"

"It would destroy the ferments."

EMBALMING ADDS TO DIFFICULTIES.

"Then the fact that a body has been embalmed adds to the difficulty of telling how long food has been in the stomach?"

"Yes, sir."

"You investigate the stomach of a person who has been dead, embalmed and interred nine or ten days. You find that bread and cabbage in the condition of this sample, you find the acidity of the stomach to be thirty-two degrees. You find practically no pepsin. You find practically nothing in the lower intestine. Could you, or any chemist or physician, hazard a guess as to how long the food had been in the stomach?"

"Under those conditions it would be impossible to tell."

"Would you predicate any conclusion on the fact that there was no food in the lower intestines?"

"I would not."

WITNESS CROSS-QUESTIONED.

Solicitor Dorsey cross-examined the witness. The witness said he was born in Mulhausen, and is of pure French extraction; that he has been in the United States since 1903 and connected with the Atlanta college for four years. He said that his specialty is physiological chemistry, and that he is an expert chemist so far as chemistry concerns the body.

The solicitor read from a paper, spelling a large number of medical terms.

"After an Ewald test breakfast has been eaten, how long would it be before you could get a positive starch test?"

"You can get a starch test all of the time that digestion is going on."

"Do you mean to tell me," asked the solicitor, "that physicians of men do not agree that you get that test at from 35 to 40 minutes?"

The witness said he did mean that, and cited several authorities.

"If you found starch in a stomach, and no auitose or dextrose, how long would you say that the food had been in the stomach?"

"Not very long," said the witness.

"Come down," shouted the solicitor, triumphantly. The witness continued, however, by saying that it depends on the quantity of the food.

Solicitor Dorsey started his questions again, but was interrupted by Mr. Rosser, who stated to the court that the next cross-examination between an Ewald test breakfast and this case. He declared that it was his understanding that this case was dealing with digestion of cabbage. Plainly, Judge Roan said that Mr. Dorsey had the right to test the witness' knowledge.

"You say you never know anybody to make any experiments with cabbage?" continued the solicitor.

The witness replied in the affirmative.

"And you never made any yourself?"

"No."

Lighting up the samples of cabbage which Dr. Harris had testified were taken from normal stomachs after 40 to 60 minutes, Mr. Mitchell asked the witness to assume that they had been taken from normal stomachs after that interval; and holding up the sample taken from Mary Phagan's stomach, asked the witness to state how long by comparison the latter had been in the stomach.

"It might have been in seven or eight hours," said the witness.

"Why do you say that?"

"Well, these large pieces of cabbage might retard greatly the passage of food from the stomach."

"You would have some inflammation to show it, if this had been the case, wouldn't you?"

"No."

"How would you account for it not being digested more than it is, if it had been lying in the stomach all that time?"

"I doubt very much if those large pieces would digest at all."

"You are giving us your opinion, then, that these pieces wouldn't digest at all, are you, doctor?"

"It would take a very long time."

CAN'T MAKE ASSUMPTION.

"Assuming that these two pieces of cabbage were cooked and chewed the same way, how long would you say that the cabbage taken from Mary Phagan's stomach had been eaten before death?"

"I can't assume that."

"Why can't you?"

Attorney Arnold interrupted, "May be he doesn't believe that these tests were made accurately. Mr. Dorsey can't make him assume it if he doesn't want to."

"Suppose you examine the stomach *that you find digestion progressing fa*vorably, the hydrochloric acid has begun to combine with the food, that the state of the starch corresponds to the cabbage—couldn't you venture an opinion as to how long the cabbage had been in the stomach?"

"No, I could not."

The witness went into a detailed explanation of why he thought he could not, the main idea being that it would be impossible to determine whether the degree of acidity at the time of the test was on the ascending or the descending scale. He said that with an Ewald test breakfast, 32 degrees of acidity would probably be found thirty minutes after the meal was eaten, on the ascending scale, and on a descending scale probably would be found an hour and a half after the meal was eaten.

What is the difference between a meal of bread and water and a meal of fried cabbage and wheat biscuit?" the witness explained in detail the chemical difference.

DR. HARRIS STANDS ALONE.

Attorney Arnold asked the witness some more questions when Solicitor Dorsey had finished.

"Do you know of any doctor, except Dr. H. F. Harris, who would venture such an opinion as he has given in this case?"

"I do not."

Court adjourned at 12:45 until 2 o'clock.

Dr. Willis Westmoreland, it was said, would be the next witness for the defense. Dr. H. H. Hancock and Dr. J. C. Olmstead were to follow him at the afternoon session, it was said.

Sunday Proves Day Of Meditation for Four Frank Jurors

Sunday apparently brought reflection and repentance to one aspiring member of the Frank juror, while three others, after due consideration of the heat and other things, spent a part of their $2 per day.

Juror Townsend, who has been carefully cultivating a most aspiring and sprouting young mustache, had the first opportunity in seven days to inspect it. After carefully going over its ultimate destiny for the greater part of Sunday, he evidently repented, for when he appeared in the court room Monday morning the thin, dark cloud topping his lips was gone.

Three other jurors grew tired of living without expenditure and drawing $2 a day for the task, and, seeing some extremely neat looking white suits marked down, purchased a number. This happened last week, but they wished to wear the suits a day in order to become accustomed to them before they appeared in public, so the first formal appearance was made Monday morning. None of the new suits was of the "side slit" variety.

[illegible] of Street Recalls Old History

The movement to repave Alabama street recalls the fact that Alabama street was the first street in the city paved with belgian block.

It was thirty-one years ago, says Superintendent of Construction R. M. Clayton, and of the fifteen members of the city government of that time only five are living now.

James W. English was mayor; Charles Beerman, mayor pro tem; R. J. Lowry, J. G. Healy and Charles Beerman, aldermen; W. B. Mitchell, Frank T. Ryan, Z. W. Adamson, W. H. Howell, W. C. Reynolds, W. H. Brotherton, R. H. Snapp, D. A. Beatie, Jack W. Johnson, W. J. Payne and A. J. Pinson were the councilmen.

R. J. Lowry was chairman of the finance committee, and laid the first stone at the intersection of Alabama and Central avenue. John Burkett, street commissioner, laid the second; R. M. Clayton, city engineer, the third, and E. C. Peters, superintendent of the street railway company, the fourth.

Those interested in the repaving have suggested selected granite block on a concrete foundation as the best paving for the street because of the grade and the heavy traffic.

Holiness Camp Meeting Is Drawing Big Crowds

JACKSON, Ga., Aug. 11.—From 500 to 1,000 automobiles from all parts of the state were at the Indian Spring Holiness camp meeting Sunday, while the crowds came by buggies and wagons and trains, making the largest number of people probably that ever attended a similar gathering. The crowd next Sunday, the closing day, promises to be even larger.

MERCHANTS' CONVENTION BEGINS SECOND WEEK

Gala Days of Big Meeting to See Many Modes of Entertainment

The second week of the Southern Merchants' convention began Monday morning at 10 o'clock with a rush of visitors registering at the convention offices. The arriving delegates represented all parts of the southeastern territory and by night from the brisk way the registration started off, the city will be filled with southern dealers ready to enjoy the vacation that will make brilliant the closing period of the big mid-summer celebration.

The registration offices were moved this week from the auditorium to the Piedmont hotel for the greater convenience of the visitors and in view of the fact that no further meetings are to be held at the auditorium. Secretary H. T. Moore, R. L. Lawrence, Bernard Sutcliffe and Will Percy, constituting the registration force, were at their places early Monday supplying the visitors with badges and directions to the theater tonight, the barbecue Wednesday and the baseball game Friday afternoon.

The formal millinery opening of the Atlanta wholesale houses took place Monday morning and a large number of dealers from all parts of the south were in attendance and their number is to be still further increased during the week, all the wholesale houses and manufacturing plants were ready again Monday to meet and greet the visitors and make every effort to their stay here as pleasant as possible.

That's to be the keynote of the closing entertainments, the many diversions of all kinds. Elaborate preparations have been made for the barbecue Wednesday afternoon and which will be the chief feature of the week.

GOV. SLATON AGAIN URGES EQUALIZATION OF TAXES

cents is the equal in splendid citizenship with the man who pays thousands in the same proportion.

Mr. Gladstone, after a half century's public service, in the great contest which made him for the last time prime minister of England, made his fight under the motto, "Peace and fear not." That splendid spirit and everlasting confidence in the final success of justice placed him among the immortals.

In your position as representatives of the state in the state's foundation of precede nts which shall determine the character and welfare of posterity, you have it in your power to disregard the fears of petty politicians, and to place upon the statute books a perpetual memorial to your courage and statesmanship.

Why should not each man pay in proportion to the protection he received from the government? Why should not each county pay according to its tax values? Who can ask without blushing that any person or county shall be beneficiary of his own delinquency and the fairness of another? What siren's voice can stop so deadly as to blind our eyes or close our ears to these fundamental truths? Sections sparsely inhabited or limited in taxable values and should receive aid from their more fortunate neighbors, when they have done their part. County lines are but imaginary, separating Georgians only by a fiction, and all should be and I believe are willing to contribute their proportion of the general burden. Legislation accomplishing this purpose, both in regard to visible and invisible property, will so operate as to make the same percentage effective on every citizen, regardless of the county in which he lives. Such a law would and should not render property taxable at its full value. A fraction of its worth, if equally returned for taxes, would be sufficient to meet every need of the state. Not one dollar more than is necessary for its economical administration should be exacted from the taxpayer, but his payment should be accompanied with the consciousness that his neighbor is proportionately bearing his burden.

NECCESSARY CONSEQUENCE.

Another necessary consequence will result from tax equalization. Every citizen should keep constant watch over the expenditure of the public money. As long as he contributes nothing out of his means, appropriations may be extravagantly made without criticism by every new measure suggested by a passing popular wave. There is no check on waste, and with a feeling of luxurious generosity the legislature is encouraged to give to whomsoever may ask. But when the taxpayer knows that for every dollar appropriated he must go into his pocket for more money, and there is an immediate connection between the expenditure and the draft on his purse, no representative will vote for any appropriation bill without being able to give a good reason for his action. Every citizen, from whatever county he comes, will reason for his action. Every citizen from whatever county he comes will be equally interested in economy, and an opening the treasury only to causes for which he is willing directly to pay his money.

And then he is on constant guard to see that the money is utilized as to accomplish the best results, and he will hold to stern account those entrusted with the stewardship to give the public his money's worth.

It is to be remembered that the greatest disparity in the tax returns of the state is not between city and rural communities, but between the rural counties themselves. One rural county will make returns three times as much in proportion to values as its neighbors. What sound argument can be offered in favor of this injustice? In my opinion, this system has been allowed to continue only because the attention of the people has not been called to it.

The house has wisely passed a bill taxing inheritances. The state's revenues are problematical, and cannot until tried be made the basis of appropriations. But I am informed that it will prove the best instrumentality for bringing into the treasury taxes from personal property. That has been the experience of states which have tried it. Men with personal property in the shape of bonds, notes, etc., will not like to leave estates evidencing that for years they have escaped their civic duties, when after their death the estate may collect its dues.

An equalization bill, properly enforced, will tend to exact from the delinquent mortgagee a contribution on an equal basis with the land owner.

COMPTROLLER'S REPORT.

The report of the comptroller general shows that for 1912 there were 371,000 less acres of improved land and 143,000 less acres of wild land in Georgia than in 1911. The returns for 1913 indicate a further shrinkage of thousands of acres, and if it continues Georgia in a few years will disappear from the map. If these acres have been omitted entirely fro mthe tax digests, no government should permit such unfairness to be visited on the other citizens. No system should be continued which provides no

FRANK CASE MENTIONED FOR FIRST TIME IN HOUSE

For the first time this session, mention of the case of Leo M. Frank on trial for the murder of four-teen-year-old Mary Phagan, was made today in the house of representatives.

Representative Harry Wayerman was speaking in favor of the senate resolution of Mr. Irwin of the Thirty-fourth, calling for the appointment of a commissioner to confer with the governor and improve the method of civil and criminal procedure in the state and report to the next session of the legislature, and made reference to the long drawn out proceedings of the Frank trial.

Instantly Representative Edmondson of Brooks was on his feet.

"Mr. Speaker," he said, "I object to the Frank case being discussed into the proceedings of the Georgia legislature."

Mr. Slater replied that he used the case only as an example to make clear his position, and the incident was closed.

MISS MARY L. POOLE'S WILL HAS BEEN FILED

The will of Miss Mary L. Poole, disposing of an estate of $30,000, was filed in the ordinary's court for probate Monday. J. L. Poole, brother of the deceased, and R. H. Poole, nephews, were appointed as executors.

AUSTELL THORNTON'S ESTATE $20,000

A. E. Thornton applied for letters of administration to the estate of the late Alfred Austell Thornton, his brother, in the court of ordinary Monday. The value of the estate is placed at $20,000. Mr. Thornton died intestate.

House Bills

The following local bills were passed in the house Monday morning:

By Senator Parrish—To amend an act creating a board of commissioners roads and revenues for Bulloch county.

By Senator Richardson—To amend an act establishing the city court of Oglethorpe.

By Senator Kea—To relieve T. B. Hicks, of Laurens county, from liability upon and given for appearance of John Walker.

By the Chatham Delegation—To create the office of county commissioners of Chatham county.

By Mr. Carter of Appling—To create a board of county commissioners for Appling county.

By Mr. Slater of Bryan—To establish the county court of Bryan.

By the Chatham Delegation—To provide for primary elections in Savannah.

By Mr. DeVaughn of Macon—To provide for working of the streets and roads in Macon county.

By the Ware Delegation—To establish a new charter for Waycross.

By Messrs. Slater of Bryan and Akin of Glynn—Occupation tax bill with senate amendment correcting technical error.

By Stewart of Coffee—To amend an act creating the board of commissioners of roads and revenues for Coffee county.

By Mr. Smith of Fannin—To create a charter for the city of Blue Ridge.

By Mr. Mills of Butts—To repeal an act creating the city court of Jackson.

By the Washington Delegation—To amend an act creating the board of commissioners of roads and revenues for Washington county.

By Mr. Blackburn of Fulton—To allow city court judges or probation officer of the juvenile court to preside over juvenile cases in the absence of judges of the superior court.

By Senator Irwin—A resolution for the appointment of a commission to revise the civil and criminal procedure of the state.

By Mr. Pickett of Terrell—To refund a part of certain sum for near-beer licenses revoked in Terrell county.

By Messrs. Stone, Hurt and Kimbrough of Harris—To make the compensation of the general oil inspector $2,500 per annum.

WOODWARD TO PROBE CAREY-BOARD MATTER

Mayor Declares That City Electrician Has Exceeded Authority—Carey Explains

Mayor Woodward announced Monday morning that he personally will investigate the park board row over the $829.52 for the installation of underground electric conduits in Piedmont Park.

"I want to find out who is responsible in the matter," said the mayor. "I understand that City Electrician Turner exceeded his authority in the matter; that he was asked only for estimates and did on the work and that he went ahead and installed the conduits. I have heard, too, that this has happened before in other cases. For instance, that he was asked to estimate the cost of moving the Tech school and instead of making the estimate went ahead with the work; and also that when Chief Johnson asked for an estimate on the cost of electric fans for the crematory, he went ahead and put those in. I have heard these things, and I want to find out about them. If they are true, I think it is rather a strong way for a department to arrogate authority to itself."

Dan Carey went into see the mayor Monday morning to explain the matter to him, and the park board. The park board has to its credit $1,299.20 against which there are no outstanding claims; but which the superintendent Carey to go to the chairman of the finance committee and secure authority by which the $829.52 may be paid from the fund already in the hands of the park board.

Superintendent Carey says that he asked the city electrician only for estimates on the work, but that inasmuch as the bill has to be paid some time, it might just as well come out of the money in hand at present as there are no other current bills against the fund.

"The matter has been up over three years ago," said Mr. Carey, "and the park board agreed that it would be better to have the electric system of the parks underground, but if it declines to pay the bills on the ground that it was not consulted in the matter."

Chief Electrician Turner says that as far as he is concerned he does not mind the investigations.

"I understood that I was authorized to do the work in each instance," he said.

MR. WILSON ADMITS HE BELIEVES MOVE ON FOOT TO INCITE MEXICO WAR

dential envoy of President Wilson, called at the white house and held a long conference with Governor Lind and Mr. O'Shaughnessy.

No one at the conference would tell what the objective and improve the method of civil and criminal procedure in the state and report to the next session of the legislature, and made reference to the long drawn out proceedings of the Frank trial.

Instantly Representative Edmondson of Brooks was on his feet.

"Mr. Speaker," he said, "I object to the Frank case being discussed into the proceedings of the Georgia legislature."

Mr. Slater replied that he used the case only as an example to make clear his position, and the incident was closed.

Senate Bills

By Mr. Longino—resolution providing for a commission to investigate the advisability of releasing the Western & Atlantoc railroad.

By Mr. Hine—To make it a misdemeanor to issue a check without having funds in the bank to met it.

By Mr. McNeil—To allow through freight trains carrying perishable goods to run on Sunday.

By Mr. McNeil—To amend the code so as to define the character of investments to be made by insurance companies organized under the laws of the state.

By Mr. Brown—To amend the act creating a state board of veterinary surgeons.

CASTERO'S RELATIVES CAPTURED BY FEDERALS

General Torres Castro Taken by Venezuelan Troops Last Friday

CARACAS, Venezuela, Aug. 11.—General Torres Castro, a relative of former President Cipriano Castro, was captured on Friday by the government troops commanded by General Gonzegas, Sayago and Bustamente, according to an official communication today.

A number of the rebel forces Castro's officers who had fled to the mountains of Maucro after the defeat of Castro's army, surrendered to the troops when they attacked the government forces in the city of Macuro, also were taken prisoners.

Fighting continues in the state of Tachira. The government army formed at this capital to fight the revolutionists, arrived at Maracay Friday under command of President Gomez.

The United States cruiser Des Moines was due to arrive in Venezuelan waters yesterday.

Monsignor Juan Botjsta Castro, archbishop of Caracas, today issued a pastoral letter, instructing the clergy to pray for peace. The letter begins:

"Peace is desolation extends to the entire republic of Venezuela. Our city is silent and sad, homes are perturbed, work is suspended, implements of peace have been transformed into arms of war and business is paralyzed. We are deeply plunged into sadness and painful and bitter expectancy oppresses our hearts. A violent transition has occurred and suddenly a well of mourning has covered yesterday's happiness and hopes."

INDUSTRIAL WORKERS MAY CAUSE RIOT CALL

State Troops Will Be Used if Dakota Meetings Are Continued

MINOT, N. D., Aug. 11.—State troops may be called out today to preserve order if an attempt is made by Industrial Workers of the World to continue the street meetings which late last night resulted in fights between the smaller bands. Incensed over alleged insults to the American flag, citizens attacked Industrial Workers and police, unable to control the rioters, called upon the sheriff and the fire department. Arrests will follow, it is said today, although the jail was crowded to overflowing.

Although warned against holding street meetings at which speakers attempted to encourage harvest hands to hold out for higher pay, the Industrial Workers resumed their activities last night.

COMMERCE COMMISSION MAY HAVE OFFICE HERE

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—In making a physical valuation of railroads the interstate commerce commission will divide the United States into probably six territories. Each will have its headquarters here, which will report to headquarters here.

In addition to commission headquarters, the headquarters of the eastern territory will be in Washington. Headquarters of other divisions have not been definitely selected, but one probably will be in Chicago, one in the south, likely at Atlanta, Ga., and one perhaps two in the middle west, and one on the Pacific coast, probably at San Francisco.

SHIRAH IS NAMED COMMERCIAL AGENT

L. C. Shirah took up his connection with the Macon and Birmingham Railway company last Thursday August 7. He is in the freight traffic department and is the commercial agent for the company in Atlanta. Mr. Shirah has begun active work and has his offices located in the Equitable building.

Mr. Shirah was previously connected with the Gulf Line railroad at Ashburn, Georgia.

Huerta Buys 75,000 Rifles in Japan

(By Associated Press.)

HONOLULU, Aug. 11.—Colonel De Aleman, of the Mexican army, arrived here yesterday on the Japanese steamer Buyo, Maru from Manzanillo on his way to Japan, where he will inspect 75,000 rifles purchased by the Mexican provisional government. He will end the war against the Constitutionalists.

Colonel De Aleman was disappointed in not meeting Brig. Gen. Diaz here as he expected to go with him to Japan.

Fellow passengers who talked with Colonel De Aleman said that he and not General Diaz is President Huerta's diplomatic representative to Japan.

Lind's Opportunities to Be Of Service Are Improved

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The situation with reform in Mexico has improved a great deal within the past forty-eight hours, in the opinion of President Wilson and his advisers. The news from the city of Mexico, where Special Envoy John Lind has arrived, is regarded as encouraging, and it is believed that Lind's opportunity for a bit of real service has improved with the developments. The Saturday night conference at the White House between President Wilson, Secretary Bryan and members of the foreign relations committee developed that the senators, without regard to party affiliations, are quite ready to fall in line with the program of the president as regards Mexico, and it is believed there will be no more speeches in the senate calculated to embarrass the administration in its attempt to handle the situation successfully.

It is believed that the president will be neither alarmed nor discouraged if Special Envoy Lind fails to make immediate progress in this connection. It was learned definitely today that Mr. Lind is charged with no fixed commission, but is in Mexico as the president's unofficial representative to ascertain real conditions, and report if, in his opinion, it is possible for the United States to exercise its good offices in quieting the Mexican republic. A day or two, or three, may elapse before Mr. Lind is in a position to make any definite report to Washington and in the meantime no further move will be made, unless unforseen developments arise to prompt action.

Rebel Leader Branded as 'Trafficker' With Mexic Dignity

(By Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11.—Charging him with being "a regular trafficker with the dignity of the Mexican race and the integrity of the republic," Ignacio Pesqueira, former military governor of the state of Sonora, has severed his relations with Venustiano Carranza, rebel governor of Coahuila, with whom he had been working in accord.

Pesqueira declared that Carranza had attempted treason against his country, while Provisional President Huerta, "disobedient to the will of the people though he may be, a traitor he never was."

Continued Desertions From Federal Ranks Reported

(By Associated Press.)

HERMOSILLO, Mexico, Aug. 11.—After a general review of the constitutionalist troops at the front at Guaymas, Governor Maytorena, former Acting Governor Pesqueira and General Obregon have returned to Hermosillo.

Official denial was made today that there had been any break among Maytorena, Pesquiera and Obregon or between the governor and the state congress, as had been rumored.

Continued desertions from the federal to the insurgents' ranks was reported at Guaymas.

EXTRA SESSION LIKELY FOR TAX REFORM BILLS

Gov. Slaton Has Not Announced His Attitude Only Three Days Left

An extra session of the legislature to pass the general appropriations and tax reform bills satisfactory to the administration now seems likely. Governor John M. Slaton has not yet announced his attitude, but it is known that his leaders in the house and senate have declared to him that it will be impossible to get through the kind of measures advocated by him during the present session, and it also is known that they are urging him to send a special message to the house urging the lower assembly to concur in the tax substitute as drafted by the finance committee of the senate, and in failure to accomplish this end, call an extra session immediately.

The regular fifty-day session comes to an end in just four days, counting Monday. The appropriations bill as passed by the house was cut $280,000 by the senate. If the house does not accept the budget as remoulded by the upper assembly it will have to go back to them or at least be agreed upon by the conference committee of both houses during the closing hours. At present such an agreement appears very remote indeed.

The tax reform measure of the house, providing for county boards of equalizers and eliminating the state board feature, as advocated by the administration leaders may get through the senate in the form it is to be reported by its finance committee, which is understood to carry a feature of central jurisdiction over county returns, but the prospects at the present time are not altogether encouraging.

Many of the senators take the same view of this proposition as do the minority leaders of the ways and means committee in the house, and that is, that the state board would work to the disadvantage of the landowners in the rural districts, while, on the other hand, such a system would be entirely top responsive to the influence of the corporations and special interests.

In the house the question of the moment is the appropriation bill. With the slice from the common school appropriations fund made by the senate, the bill as it stands equals the expected amount of revenue for the coming year. Whether the house will put back the pensions and school cut, or pass the bill as amended, is not known. If the latter course is taken, the bill will need only the governor's signature to become a law, and as he has expressed himself already as agreeable to the cut made in the senate there is little doubt that he would sign the bill if the cut is allowed to stand.

It is extremely doubtful if the legislature will be able to get to much more legislation than these two important measures. The rules committee of both houses are besieged by those who want their bills given a front rank on the calendar so that they will not go over until next year.

Those that stand a good chance of coming up for passage are the McCrory school book bill, the indeterminate sentence bill passed by the senate, the probation bill passed by the senate, the house bill providing a home for wayward girls and the mothers' rights bill.

HEIR TO $100,000 IS SOUGHT IN ATLANTA

Mystery Surrounds Location of Warren W. Ford, Missing Heir to Fortune

CINCINNATI, Aug. 11.—Warren L. Ford has fallen heir to $100,000 as an inheritance, according to Attorney George Coleman, 101 Fourth National Bank building, this city. Ford is believed to be at Atlanta. A search of national proportion is being made for the missing man.

Considerable mystery surrounds the matter, for those closely associated fail to confirm certain details. One inquiry of the Cedar Point, Ohio, Resort company, of George A. Boecking, president of that resort, failed to uncover any clue, though Ford is claimed to have been sojourning there recently.

Another report is to the effect that Ford, after staying at the Cedar Point resort, had met with foul play on Mobile bay, and was next heard from at Atlanta.

MR. WILSON OPTIMISTIC OVER CURRENCY OUTLOOK

More Confident Than Ever Bill Will Be Passed at This Session

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—That the amendments to the administration currency bill, as reported to the Democratic caucus today, have the entire approval of President Wilson, was learned definitely this morning. The president has not seen the bill since it was perfected by the banking and currency committee, but he has been apprised and has approved of every change that was made in the original draft of the measure.

President Wilson, it was learned, feels more confident today than ever that the bill will be passed at this session of congress. He believed that the threatened difficulties in the senate will be satisfactorily met and cured. Then, too, the governor has no guarantee that the legislature will pass his bill at an extra session. There is the possibility that such a session might run indefinitely, prove very expensive to the state and result in defeat for the bill.

Opposition to anything like a state board of equalizers is very strong, especially in the house. This opposition which is led by Representative J. E. Sheppard, in the house, and by Senator R. T. DuBose, in the senate, takes the position that the state board would work to the disadvantage of the land owners in the rural sections.

It is not believed that the opponents of a state board of equalizers will entuse over the plan of the senate finance committee for a state tax commissioner who shall have authority to interfere in county tax returns.

Thereefore, there seems little likelihood of any compromise on the matter of state tax supervision, even with an extra session of the general assembly.

NEW TAX BILL SEEMS DOOMED TO FAILURE

Differences of Opinion Apparently Will Defeat All Attempts to Pass Measure

There seems little likelihood now that the general assembly will pass a tax equalization bill which provides for any kind of state interference in the matter of county tax assessments. Differences of opinion, which appear to be irreconcilable, are entertained by members of both house and senate.

The fact that the administration is urging such a measure does not seem to be sufficient to bring about any sort of an agreement. Governor Slaton's special message of Monday urging the enactment of a law providing for a system of equalization between counties has apparently had little if any effect upon the situation.

It is generally assumed that the governor is supporting the substitute bill reported by the senate finance committee Monday, which provides for a state tax commissioner or equalizer as well as for county equalization boards.

In the senate a stiff opposition to this bill has already developed and the majority in the house has not changed its attitude since it struck from the house bill the section relating to a state board of equalizers.

Administration leaders in both house and senate, realising the impossibility of their being able to get through the administration tax measure during the three remaining days of the session, are already talking about the advisability for an extra session to give sole consideration to this matter.

Governor Slaton will not commit himself on the special session proposition. He is inclined not to cross this bridge until he reaches it. Monday morning he expressed the hope that the legislature would pass a satisfactory tax bill before it adjourned. He declared that he had given no consideration to the special session suggestion.

The governor no doubt will go slow about calling an extra session because one will cost the state about $1,500 for every day it holds and the treasury is not overflowing with funds. Then, too, the governor has no guarantee that the legislature will pass his bill at an extra session. There is the possibility that such a session might run indefinitely, prove very expensive to the state and result in defeat for the bill.

A Practically Perfect Preparation.

Years of experience have enabled Mr. Fletcher to make Castoria a practically perfect preparation. These years of labor: the amount of money required to introduce its merits to the public: the investment in its manufacture, including the most modern machinery, mean a vast amount of invested capital. It follows that the greatest care is exercised in the selection of each ingredient, and the greatest attention is paid to every detail of its preparation. The result: The practically perfect preparation in the finished product; Fletcher's Castoria.

Herein lies the guarantee of the absolute safety in the use of Fletcher's Castoria for the baby, and the warning against irresponsible makers of imitations and counterfeits. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher that is printed in black on the wrapper and red on the bottle is the mother's safeguard.

Give This Bill a Chance.

It is commonly recognized that one of the most urgent public needs in Georgia today is the establishment of a State bureau for the registration of vital statistics.

A bill to this end has been favorably reported both in the House and the Senate and, if given its due place in the calendar, it will doubtless be passed at the present session of the Legislature.

A measure that so materially concerns the people's health and their economic interests as well deserves particularly generous consideration at the hands of the rules committee. Its passage will consume appreciably no time, for there is no difference of opinion as to its merits. It will not impede the progress of any other bill nor delay any other business.

Surely, then, the Legislature can spare a few minutes for the enactment of a measure that will bring incalculable blessings to Georgia through all the years to come.

The need and the value of a system of vital statistics in conserving public health and in promoting the State's practical interests are so obvious as to require little comment. Suffice it to say that without an adequate and authentic record of births, deaths and the causes of deaths, scant progress can be made in campaigns against disease.

One other important fact should be noted. Georgia now has no place or mention in the health reports compiled and issued by the federal census bureau, simply for the reason that the bureau collects such statistics from only those States which have a satisfactory system for the registration of vital statistics. The only available records of this kind in Georgia are from the cities of Savannah and Atlanta. Thus in those reports of the Government which deal with health records and conditions and which are read as authoritative throughout the nation, Georgia is conspicuous by her absence. This circumstance is a serious disadvantage to the State's economic progress and development.

The bill now awaiting passage is a model of its kind. It meets the requirements of the census bureau and the federal health authorities. Its enactment will mean the saving of money and the saving of lives. It should be given a place on the calendar and pressed to a speedy passage.

Around the World in 36 Days.

Only the twinkling spirit, Ariel, or that waggish fairy, Puck, who could "put a girdle round the earth in forty minutes," are to be compared for feats of expeditious travel, with the American, John Henry Mears, who as a representative of the New York Evening Sun, has encircled the globe in less than six and thirty days. Some forty years ago when Jules Verne sent his imaginary hero, Phileas Fogg, around the world in eighty days, readers marveled at the novelist's bold and ingenious fancy. But the adventure of Phileas Fogg was like a granddad's afternoon saunter beside the actual performance of Mr. Mears. Thus, fact outstrips fiction and the romances of one generation become the realities of the next.

The only achievement of the kind in any way approaching Mr. Mears' is that of Andre Jager-Schmidt, a Parisian journalist, who, about two years ago, made a dash around the earth in forty days. That this record would be overtopped, and so soon was scarcely believable, for, the Frenchman's schedules were calculated to a nicety and luck was kind to him. What keenness of wit, what resourcefulness and hardihood and self-possession does this American's record, which betters that of his only rival by nearly four days, bespeak!

And what a commentary it is on the facilities of this century for abbreviating time and bringing the ends of the earth together! In this wonderful world-journey, we read not only the skill and prowess of one man, but those also of mankind.

The Logical Way to Settle The School Book Question.

By a practically unanimous vote the house has adopted a resolution providing for an inquiry into the cost of school books and the advisability of a plan whereby the state itself would publish the texts prescribed for its common schools. As to the wisdom and fairness of this measure, there is apparently no difference of opinion; and certainly there ought to be none. The school book question is one of very vital concern to the people of Georgia. If present *prices are excessive and if there are feasible meth*ods for reducing them, the State, in justice to public interest, should act accordingly. If on the contrary present prices are the lowest that are consistent with the production of desirable books, that fact also should be established in justice to all interests concerned.

To determine this question by means of a deliberate and thorough investigation is the purpose of the house resolution. It calls for the appointment of a committee of five from the house and three from the senate that shall study this issue in all its aspects, hear testimony from all sides, consider carefully the experience of other places where the publication of school books by the government has been tried and then in the light of this evidence and inquiry submit a report upon which definite and well informed action may be based. It is to be hoped that the senate will concur in this logical and timely resolution in order that the proposed investigation may begin without delay.

In the near future the State Board of Education will be called upon to make a new contract for the text-books used in the public schools. Heretofore the term of such contracts has been five years. Pending the settlement of the present issue, however, it is clear that the next contract should either be made for a much shorter period or made subject to cancellation in the event the State should decide to publish its own books. The proposed investigation will require time and care, for its subject is one of many details and of far-reaching importance.

The State should not venture hastily upon any movement of this kind, but it should not hesitate to embrace an opportunity to furnish its people cheaper school books as good a those now in use, if a trustworthy plan to this end can be devised. That is the question to be determined; and it should be approached without prejudice or partisanship and answered wholly in the light of public interest and educational welfare.

Doing things for effect is seldom effective.

Making Turkey Behave.

Europe seems agreed that Turkey shall not be permitted to hold Adrianople, which she quietly and rather humorously reoccupied some weeks ago while the Balkan Allies were absorbed in a war among themselves.

Through their representatives at Constantinople, the Powers have issued a joint demand that the Ottoman government comply with the terms of the treaty of London by which the contested city was awarded to Bulgaria.

The Turk has only a Hobson's choice in this matter and will doubtless withdraw to his narrow confines with such grace and comfort as he may command.

This action on the part of the Powers suggests that they are more agreeable in their Balkan policy than might have been hoped. It was at first reported that the task of expelling the Turkish army from Adrianople would be left entirely to Bulgaria; and it was suspected that some of the Powers were rather pleased over the prospect of still further trouble among the Balkan States.

A more generous point of view, however, has evidently prevailed. The boundary lines decided upon by the London conference will stand, at least in so far as Turkey is concerned.

This will simplify the new problem of adjusting the differences among Bulgaria, Servia, Greece and Rumania. The peace negotiations into which these States have entered apear to be progressing satisfactorily. A committee composed of one delegate from each country has been appointed to draw up a treaty which, it is expected, will be signed within a few days.

In the meantime orders have been sent to the several armies notifying them that the present armistice will be continued indefinitely.

The Balkan riddle is still far from being completely solved but the fact that it is not to be entangled with a new Turkish imbroglio is reassuring.

Marriage is a union that is responsible for a lot of strikes.

If Birds Didn't Breakfast.

"If the birds did not breakfast, man would not dine."

Into this one crisp sentence, Edward B. Clark, writing in "the Country Gentleman," puts the practical philosophy of our game protection laws. The value of birds to argicultural interests has long been appreciated in the world's older countries where the wear and tear of civilization compelled men to avail themselves of every possible aid in conserving natural resources. But in America we are just beginning to realize the heavy debt we shall have to pay if the indiscriminate slaughter of birds continues unchecked. Mr. Clark quotes a French scientist as saying that if all the birds should suddenly die, man would have only a year's life left to him. Certain it is that if field and orchard are deprived of the natural protection which insect-eating birds afford, crops will diminish both in quantity and quality, and in time the farmer will face a problem more serious than any with which he has ever before been confronted.

THE BLOODY KNIFE

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

We make a deal of pother and spend considerable sums of money to secure for the children an education. By education we generally mean readin', ritin' and rithmetic, the three r's, with a dash of the ologies.

But a child gets much more body, mind and soul stuff out of his play than out of his study; which truth Emerson turned into an epigram: "The school boy learns more from the book under the desk than from the book on the desk."

The acquisition of the three r's is carefully supervised by the teacher. At recess and before and after school the child is let run, and acts upon his own unguided initiative.

It might be an interesting experiment to call arithmetic and geography play, and to have the pupil make games of them, doing as he may be pleased; and to have the teacher take charge of his vacation hours and carefully manage his sports.

Out in Gary, Ind., they do this. They have playground teachers.

It is much harder to teach children how to play than to see that they work. For the former, it takes a natural born teaching genius and real child-love; any placeholder can do the latter.

The essential element of efficiency in a teacher is the ability to make play out of work.

In a toy shop in an American city there has recently been offered for sale a wonderful plaything—a small, sharp Bowie knife, with a red splotch of paint on the blade representing blood. With these knives the little darlings can play bandit and robber with delightful realism.

Who is there that can imagine a child can get in one hour's Sunday school instruction enough antidote to counteract the moral effect of six days' amusement with a bloody knife?

The bloody knife stands for a whole series of forms of play that are demoralizing. In their street games children develop destructive tendencies. That seems to come by nature.

Constructive and wholesome games, of building, devising and beautifying, could be made as interesting as murder, violence and theft; only they must be taught.

It is much the same with grown-ups. Our character is determined more by our amusements than by our occupation. What sort of fun a man likes means vastly more by way of showing what kind of man he is, than the character of his work.

The State—that is to say, the People—has never realized the importance of amusements.

Is it not time to ask ourselves how we and our children are diverting ourselves, when we see imitation blood-stained knives for sale in the shops?

Aeroplane Tests in Aviation

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The three largest aeroplanes ever ordered by the United States government are to be delivered for final test about September 1. These aeroplanes are for the use of the war department and are expected to include all that is newest and most practical in aeronautic construction. They are to be tested more rigidly than have any other of the flying machines which have been purchased by the United States government. To secure the standards by which accurate altitude tests might be made, the bureau of standards has been experimenting for months with aneroid barometers, the instruments by which altitudes have been measured by aviators from the beginning of the science.

These experiments give the surprising result that, according to the most scientific test ever made in the world, no aneroid now in existence can be proved to be accurate. Consequently, every one of the world's records for altitude may vary thousands of feet from the truth.

• • •

The aneroid barometer is a small instrument used for registering atmospheric pressure at different altitudes. It was invented by Vidi, a French scientist, in Paris in 1848. The principle of the aneroid used for testing these great war aeroplanes does not differ from that of the original instrument used by Vidi. The aneroid has had comparatively little use until the development of aviation. It was practically unknown outside of scientific circles. The few unknown regions used it for testing mountain heights and atmospheric conditions, but it had no general use so, excepting to a few scientists it made little difference whether its registrations were accurate or not.

• • •

As it is the only instrument known to register altitude, the development of aviation called it into popular favor. When the war department prepared specified requirements for its aeroplanes the bureau of standards began to test the instruments by which the altitude was to be measured. These tests have been most intricate and careful. The results indicate inaccuracies which must interest the aviators of the world. Mayo D. Hersey, of the bureau of standards, who has been in charge of the aneroid experiments, sailed for Germany last month. He will confer with a number of European scientists who also have been studying this subject. An endeavor is to be made to determine some means of berfecting the instruments so that registrations may be depended upon. A bulletin upon the subject of aneroids is now in course of preparation by the bureau of standards and will be issued in a few months.

• • •

A collection of all the recognized makes of aneroid barometers in the world was secured by the bureau of standards for making these tests. Each was subjected to the same rigid examination and experiment. Specially designed apparatus was provided for raising and lowering the temperature to correspond with atmospheric changes at various altitudes. Scientific observations of every *change were taken mi*croscopically and recorded accurately for months. These records prove the great inaccuracies of all of these instruments. It was difficult to secure two identical registrations from the same instrument under the same atmospheric conditions.

• • •

The construction of the aneroid seems simple. Its basic principle is a hermetically sealed metal box from which the air has been partly exhausted. The sides and top of the box are slightly corrugated and of paper-like thinness. The air exhaustion has been so complete that they would fall toeether if permitted to take their natural position. To prevent this a strong spring is attached to the flexible top. When the pressure of the air is decreased by an ascending altitude, the spring relaxes and the top rises slightly. When the pressure is increased by a descent the spring tightens and the delicate metal recedes a little. To the spring is attached a fine thread-like chain attached to a lever which moves at each change in the atmospheric pressure, thereby indicating the pulsation of the vacuum box.

• • •

*Many conditions affect the sensitiveness of the lit*tle instrument. For instance, if a flying machine ascends at a high rate of speed, a greater decrease in the pressure of air will be noted by the aneroid than if the same altitude was achieved by a slower ascent. At present no means of making accurate allowance for discrepancies from this cause are known. The aneroid commonly used in aviation is supposed to be able to register an altitude of at least 15,000 feet. There is no certainty that it ever has done so. There is no method of determining absolutely whether or not any aeroplane ever rose to more than a fraction of the altitude accredited to it. It is also possible that the aneroid may not register at all after a certain height, so that a daring aviator may have gone much higher than his instrument indicated. Consequently, this careful scientifc test of the aneroids of the world indicates that every aviation altitude upon record is more apt to be wrong than right.

• • •

The three new war aeroplanes, now almost completed, are to be tested according to the strictest specifications covering every point. Each must show a minimum speed not falling below thirty-eight miles with a maximum of at least fifty-five miles an hour. It must be capable of a cross country run of 180 miles at an easy glide, and of executing a figue eight in the air in a rectangle of space not exceeding 500 by 250 feet without decreasing its altitude more than 100 feet. It must be able to carry a load of 450 pounds in addition to two persons, a pilot and an observer, besides sufficient oil and fuel for at least four hours. It must be equipped with engines capable of being throttled so that one person may operate the airship if need be. It must be capable of being shipped by road so that it cannot be more than ten feet wide in shipment and it must be so constructed that it can be made ready for operation in one hour, without requiring the services of more than six men.

• • •

While these machines are all being built by American firms they are to be equipped with propelling power of foreign make. This is the first time this government has permitted any other than American machinery in an aeroplane designed for public use, and it is believed that the purchase of these now under consideration will act as a stimulus to encourage the improvement of the aeronautic machinery of this country. The three engines selected are the Austro-Daimler, the Gnome and the Renault. The cost of each fully equipped aeroplane will approximate $10,000.

• • •

The altitude requirement for each of these machines is to be an ascent of 2,000 feet in ten minutes. As this altitude can only be measured by the aneroid, there is no means of knowing whether the new machines will comply with it or not. The aneroid which has been unofficially adopted for the testing of war aeroplanes consists of three parts which are enclosed in a black leather case resembling a tiny camera in appearance. The parts include the aneroid itself, consisting of the vacuum box, spring and lever, the clock work which operates a registering apparatus and the register which includes a tiny roll of paper and a microscopic pencil. Instead of indicating the changes in atmospheric pressure by hands moving upon the face of the aneroid, this instrument marks them automatically upon the paper. Each sheet of paper is supposed to hold the registrations of four hours changes, this being the proposed duration of a trip in an army aeroplane. The register attachment is a new development which aviators commend because it is believed to be more accurate and more easily read than the old aneroid face. It gives the added ad*vantage of furnishing a permanent record of altitude* which can be produced at any time to settle a disputed point.

GEORGIA AND HER POLITICS

D. F. McClatchey Is Back on the Job.

After an absence of seevral days occasioned by illness, D. F. McClatchey, of Marietta, the popular reading clerk of the house of representatives, was back on the job Saturday morning with the same familiar voice that booms out the bills as they come to him, in perfect working order.

Mr. McClatchey suffered quite a severe attack of bronchitis and was ill for a day or so before he would give in and leave his post of duty. He was missed by every member and upon returning was kept busy shaking hands with many who came to the speaker's stand to tell him how glad they were to see him out.

The Hog Cholera Bill aPssed But Minus Several Amendments.

Strenuous debate on the hog cholera bill that passed the house was relieved through bits of genuine wit that found their way to the clerk's desk in the shape of amendments to the measure under discussion.

The house appeared unable to reach a decision in what manner and how deep a hog, dead from colera, should be buried. The depth ranged anywhere from six to three feet under ground, the former finally being adopted by a majority vote.

But before the measure was allowed to be put on its passage two amendments were simultaneously sent to the desk. Mr. Hog was well provided for, so far as his burial was concerned, one provided that he be laid away in a coffin to cost not less than $10 and that a marble slab be placed at the head of the grave. The other was even more exacting. It called for a metallic box with a monument to mark the animal's last resting place.

Both got a general laugh, in lieu of adoption.

Ladies Become Frequent Visitors at Sessions.

During the past week the house gallery has become quite popular with ladies who come to the sessions regularly every day and sit from early until the end of the proceedings. They appeare particularly alive to catch what is going on and seem to enjoy the session most when the members are in the midst of hot debate on some pending measure.

They Are in the Saddle! Now Watch Them Ride!

The ten silent senators of the state general assembly have four days during which they are expected to take the floor and spill all kinds of oratory right and left.

Not only are they expected to, but urged to. So says the resolution offered in the senate Saturday morning signed by the dauntless twenty-four who have at one time or another debated a question during this term in the senate.

According to the resolution, "no bills that may come up for passage shall be debated by any senator save and except the following." Thereto were appended the names of the tongue-tied ten.

Five minutes later they were but nine. The name of one was stricken by unanimous veto. This senator, silent so long, arose to protest the resolution. "Did his protest" he cried "ever before in the annals of the solons has such a rhapsody of eloquence flowed from floor to forum, never before have such heights of verbosity been attained. The dauntless twenty-four were appalled! This senator be allowed to debate? Never! Its unanimous consent his name was at once stricken.

But his plea availed not. The resolution was passed, and now it is up to the nameless nine to mount Pegasus and spell the spur.

They Say He Wrote the Speech, but He didn't.

The philosopher of the senate is W. I. Converse, the senator from the South. For really high-class language, for insight into psycholgy and all the "deep stuff" you must hand it to him. Whiterow in his palmiest days never had a thing on Senator Converse when it came to considering a question from its most scientific standpoint and in all its highest phases.

Take his speech Friday for example. The question was on compulsory education. Senator Converse was against the bill, and in this wise did he trgue:

"Senators, I am opposed to compulsory education. In the first place, such terms as compulsory and prohibition are misnomers; for development never took place under compulsion or prohibition. A child or a nation subjugated by force or compulsion rebels as soon as the power holding it in check is withdrawn.

"Now, God forbid that I should say aught to diminish the horror of ignorance, but when the means employed in condemning ignorance consciously or unconsciously subverts the inherent right of the parent over the control of the child you destroy the very conditions of freedom. Why? Because it has not the internal sanction of this inherent right and seeks to do by force what should be done by a slower process of education. For if education teaches anything, it is that it is the nature of the spirit to be free, the right of individual freedom of thought, and the right of private judgment.

"Now any law which seeks to put into circumscription and confine this inherent right, attempts to destroy that persistent force in the law of nature which is antecedent to any positive law."

At this point Senator Converse asked the chair what the bill at issue was, voted "no," and sat down, while his colleagues scratched their heads and gasped.

Waste No Time in Getting to This Waist Sale

The Values Are Fine. The Styles Are Charming and Many

It's a Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company Outclearing!

And the waists are as smart and stylish and fresh as the woman who is "a bit particular" about her waists could ever want, regardless of the fact that the new prices might mislead her.

There are one hundred sixty-five in all---

Cotton Crepe and Voiles, Crepe de Chines and Habutai and China Silks.

Indeed, the choosing will be fine for those who waste no time in getting to the hundred sixty-five early.

The details---

$1.95 For $3.00 and $3.50 Black China and White Habutai Silk Waists

One hundred of these.

About-to-be vacationists will snap them up quickly, or we miss our guess. Of those of black china silk, some have Dutch necks with short sleeves, others high neck and long sleeves; little black buttons trim them. Those of white habutai silks (washable) might be called shirts. Plain tailored styles with low turn-back and pointed collars.

$3.75 For $5.00 and $7.50 Waists of Plain White China Silk and Crepe de Chine

There are one hundred of these, one as lovely as another. There are those with double frills of crepe de chine down fronts, and those with embroidered batiste down fronts, having a bit of color on the low collars and the cuffs. The color is sometimes in a narrow border, again it is a matter of fancy stitching. Some are hand embroidered. Also you will like the way the sleeves are set in.

Half Price

For Cotton Voile and Crepe Waists That Were $3.75 to $12.75

Lace trimmed waists and hand embroidered waists, waists with a vivid color showing in the collar and cuffs—and the collars are various—low, flat lying, pointed and high—short sleeves and long sleeves; and china and crystal buttons are frequent.

Pick-Ups in the Junior Dep't

--Third Floor

In the midst of the outclearings and the rearrangment of stocks for the fall these three little lots of children's apparel have been picked out as great values for tomorrow's selling.

We warrant they will not last long, but thrifty mothers need hardly be told that---note the prices.

For Children's $3.00 Rain Capes

They are of rubberized satin, in navy, red and brown. "Cover-alls" they are, in that they have the hood attached.

$1.98 now, and school days around the corner of the month!

For Children's $6 to $10 Coats

Sizes two to fourteen years.

Only twenty-five in all, and therefore not all sizes in all styles. But you may choose from white and dark serges and novelty stripe materials.

Half Price

For Children's $1.75 to $6.00 White Dresses

It Means Money Saved To Buy Furniture During The "Blue Tag" Furniture Sale

Before we realize it we will be in the midst of our planning for the Fall, and of all the refixing and refurnishing of the home that this implies. No doubt there will be some pieces of new furniture needed; it may be no more than a chair, a rocker, a table, a chiffonier or a china closet; again it may be a whole set for the dining room, bedroom or living room.

In this connection it should be a matter of some satisfaction to the women of Atlanta to realize that in the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. Furniture Store they have the South's largest and choicest stocks of home furniture to draw on—every piece of it here because we found it the best of its kind that the same money could buy.

And right now practically every piece of it at a greatly reduced price.

Just remember this when you start furniture buying, and do yourself, your home, your good taste, and your pocketbook the justice of seeing these vast, fine stocks.

Dunbar-Bennett Wedding

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. R. L. Chapman, 2112 Wyoming avenue, last evening at 8 o'clock, when Mrs. Virginia Turner Bennett became the bride of Judge William C. Dunbar, of Augusta, Ga., and Washington. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Nicholson, pastor of the Dumbarton Methodist Episcopal church, in the presence of a small gathering of friends of the bride and bridegroom, including the Georgia congressional delegation. In a bower of greens studded with white asters at one end of the drawing room the ceremony took place. The bride wore a gown of white satin brocade and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and mauve orchids.

Mrs. Israel Birch, organist of the Dumbarton Methodist Episcopal church, played the wedding marches. A buffet supper was served later in the dining room, where the table and mantelpiece had a decoration of pink asters and gladioli with ferns. Judge and Mrs. Dunbar left Washington last night, the latter wearing a smart tailored suit of dark blue silk serge with a small hat to match. They will spend some time at Atlantic City, and later will visit at Augusta and elsewhere in Georgia. They will make their home at Washington, where Judge Dunbar, who was formerly mayor of Augusta, is now postmaster of the house of representatives. —Washington Post.

AN ATLANTA MATRON

MRS. ALICE WOLCOTT VANDYKE,
Who is the great-great-granddaughter of Oliver Wolcott, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and a close relative of Senator Wolcott of Colorado.

Out of the Wilderness

It is when one sees and talks to the men who are making Atlanta day by day that one begins to understand the much vaunted Atlanta spirit, that spirit which, after all, is the flame of ambition and progress which characterizes the business men of the community and which unites in the accomplishment of any one big undertaking that means civic growth and betterment.

Long ago in the 60's a young engineer came down from the north and found Atlanta a little village thrown on the Piedmont ridge like a discord between Decatur and Marietta, which were full of years and the dignity of county leadership.

In the big stream of woods which bordered Peachtree, then as now a highway, the man who believed in her bought 400 acres evenly divided to the right and left of her curving red clay road.

That was years ago; today, instead of the woods there are only a few old trees which speak of the forest days on Peachtree and in the deeper woods streets have been cut, hollows filled in and hills dug down. His son is continuing the work he began, and the reclaiming of apparently hopeless ground is almost as interesting and appealing to the imagination as the rescue of Holland from the encroaching waves of the North sea.

Along the new streets new houses are springing up and the city grows like a great vine which is spreading and covering the waste spaces with its fruitful blossoming.

Not far form the red brick halls of the Technological school there is a bit of wooded meadow land verdant with willows and the dark shade of old oaks which will be left as a reminder of the one-time wilderness and in its name, Richard and Mary park, a token of remembrance to the man who believed in Atlanta and the strong womanly woman who helped him in that belief.

SPLENDID HOT WEATHER FOOD.

You should eat meat very sparingly during hot weather—meat heats the body. At the same time, you must eat nutritious food.

Try Faust Spaghetti. It is a nutritious, non-heating food. Made from Durum Wheat, the cereal that overflows in gluten, a muscle, bone and flesh builder. A 10c package of Faust Spaghetti contains as much nutrition as 4 lbs. of beef—ask your doctor.

Let Your Eyes Save Your Legs

Remember the man who sold his farm and went to Alaska to dig gold? After he had left, a chap who kept his eyes open found a fabulously rich oil well on the old farm.

How often have you traveled a long distance to get some particular article, to find later you could have bought it around the corner for less money?

It pays to know. Your eyes were given to you to guide the brain. The world's prizes go to people who see things.

Let your eyes search the advertising columns in today's JOURNAL for a moment, and see how well your wants have been anticipated.

You were puzzled about a menu for dinner—here's news of the latest market delicacies.

Right down the list of human wants come the advertisements in today's JOURNAL giving answers.

Washington Seminary

SOME OF ITS STRONG FEATURES

Some of the distinctive features of Washington Seminary, Atlanta, that commend it strongly to parents seeking the best in the education of their daughters, are:

1. The exceptionally beautiful and complete equipment in grounds, buildings, furnishings and school appliances of all kinds—all on the scale of the most elegant private homes.

2. The limited boarding department, which enables the principals to make the school in reality a home for the students.

3. The personal nature of the instruction, secured by dividing classes into small sections, averaging about twelve girls to the class.

4. The OPEN AIR class rooms, connecting with each recitation room, used in all seasonable weather. The school work is thus done actually out-of-doors most of the year—a fine health feature.

5. Physical culture and a thorough Domestic Science course form a part of the required curriculum.

6. Its work accredited at the Class A colleges.

What Anne Rittenhouse Says

What are we going to do with the waistline? It has moved up and down the body, it has been small and has grown large, it has been concealed by straight skirts and revealed by brilliant sashes. It has been outlined on seats by a belt and dropped entirely from the gowns. It has had its troubles and its victories and it has often caused panic among women for they never knew which way it was going to jump and whether or not they could jump with it.

If a woman had a figure as slim and as flexible as a whalebone or a reed in the riser she might be able to follow the fashions as they came out, but the human structure cannot always be broken into shape, although it is astounding what women can do with it.

When it was the fashion to have an eighteen-inch waist every woman seemed to have it and her hips were round and curved. Today, when it is fashionable to have a thirty-inch waist, women seem to have no difficulty in producing it.

Hips appear to come and go, and feet get long and short. Now it is the fashion to be small and thin and walk with a dreer, so one sees thousands of women possessing all these qualities, yet when the Gibson girl was in vogue all the women seemed to be tall and straight with shoulders and heads thrown back and skins of ruddy as today they are pale, which is fashion and the pliability of its votaries.

Slightly Raised Waistline.

Gallons of ink have been wasted on the position of the waistline; experts have wrangled and dressmakers have differed and women have followed one idea after another, and today it looks as though anything is right that is not normal.

The waistline is not where it used to be. It is neither as high nor as low as it once was and the only way in which it is exaggerated is by its size. Women seem to have adopted the new extraordinary measurements without clamor, and when they did not have them naturally, they have worn padded girdles that produced the right effect.

Any semblance of a waistline must be artificial today, because the real line has almost disappeared from the human figure, and the only anxiety that women feel is about obtaining a waistline when one comes back into fashion. It is all very well to make one larger, but how can one be made smaller?

The hope is that the corset makers will wave the wand and change the figure as they have been depended upon to do during the last ten years. However, this is pure conjecture. Now the waistline is now, is the important point. It is really hard to define it because of its size, but the dressmakers say that it is an inch above the normal, and, therefore, the strictly empire gowns are not as fashionable as they were. The princess effect is entirely out of style, for a belt of some kind is universal. It seems a mockery, doesn't it, that as soon as the waistline disappears, the sash come in?

When the dressmakers define a waistline, as they must do, they use gathers or accordion pleating or a piping to show that the skirt is over and the bodice has begun. That's all.

The Drooping Blouse

There is one alleviation about the large waistline which was evidently an afterthought on the part of the dressmakers. This is the width of the blouse across the back and its fullness at the waistline. All the fashionable blouses are voluminous below the arms and they sag two inches over the belt. As you can easily see, this fullness makes the waistline more defined and gives grace to the figure.

Even when the belt is high, there is the same effect of fullness and the woman who has not yet learned this trick with her blouse should take it up, for it helps matters in a remarkable way.

WHITE DUE TUESDAY; WHITNEY WORKS HARD

Chicago Boy Stopped Off in Tennessee and Will Be on Within a Day—Whitney Daily Works Out

The hot weather in Atlanta has caused Charley White to abandon his idea of coming here Sunday and going into training for his big match with Frank Whitney, the Chicago pug stopping off in Galbraith, Tenn., for a round of training. White was due here during Sunday, but a telegram from Nate Lewis, his manager, conveys the information that he will stay in Galbraith Springs for a day or so, getting here on Tuesday.

Already Frank Whitney is on the ground and working like a Trojan. He did a bit of hard work when in Chicago and right now is in good shape, but he is not satisfied. He wishes to get in even better condition and is working twice daily. Frank is out to get a decision over the lad who worried Jack Britton and if condition counts for anything he will most certainly be on hand.

When White was last here he complained of the excessive heat and it is for this reason that he stopped off at Galbraith Springs for a little work. It is cool in the little mountain city and White will doubtless be greatly benefitted by his stay there. Condition is a big help in any endurance contest and it is for this reason that White was stopped in Tennessee to take a rest.

Besides the big match between Whitney and White there will be a ten round bout between Kid Young and Charlie Lee and a ten-rounder with Eddie Hanlon and Mike Saul starring, all of which will be staged at the auditorium on Wednesday evening. Three good ten-round bouts are good enough for anyone and is due the support of the fans, Castro being willing to risk paying high salaries to get good boys here.

ERADY WINS GAME.

WASHINGTON, Ga., Aug. 11.—King Brady, late of Atlanta, was in the mound for Washington here Friday and held Madison helpless, winning by the score of 8 to 0. The home team played errorless ball behind him, winning the first series Madison has lost this season.

Both teams have won three games. Strong inducements have been made by nearby towns for tie game, should managements decide on such course.

Wins Seventh Cup

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 11.—Harry G. Legg, of the Minikahda club, Minneapolis, won his seventh cup emblematic of the championship of the Minnesota State Golf association, when he defeated Dudley Mudge, of White Bear. The score was 9 up and 8 to play.

Player to Boston

WACO, Tex., Aug. 11.—Oscar Dugey, second baseman of the Waco, Tex., league team, and leading base runner of the league, was today sold to the Boston Nationals, to report at the end of the local season. The consideration is said to have been about $2,000.

MAYBE GOLF CAUSED FIGHT AMONG NEW YORK GIANTS

All the blame for the recent altercation between Manager John McGraw, of the New York club, and some three or four of his players is placed upon the trade of Otis Crandall to St. Louis for Larry McLean. It being figured that because the players were so friendly towards Crandall that they objected to his being cut out of the world's series coin. Such might have been the case but the ancient game of golf might have had a whole lot to do with the little fight in which Mathewson and Merkle figured so prominently.

It is known that a number of the Giant players have become very fond of Scotia's ancient game and have played it steadily much to the discomfiture of Manager McGraw. He did not seem to think the game helped the players's batting eyes any while and accordingly issued an edict that there would be no more use of the mashie and brassie until the pennant was won or lost. And herein lies the trouble.

The edict against golf was issued just the day before Matty and Merkle began to pummel the manager and many of the wise scribes around the clubhouse became quite calm that this and not the Crandall trade prompted the pugilistic work. Anyway it had something to do with it as all golfers know full well it is a serious operation to have your golf cut out when you have just plenty of time to play, many accessible courses and enjoy the game.

Here is what Grantland Rice has to say of McGraws edict to cut out the game:

Still worse than that, the loss of the game, Manager McGraw last night let the edict fly that the cleek and the mashie and the putter were to be shoved back in the old bag, with waivers asked on the gutta percha. "No more golf," says McGraw, "until we have either won or lost the pennant. This goes for every man on the team. Golf is a great sport, all right, but it isn't baseball. An entirely different stroke is required, and, in addition to that, a seven-hole round of golf soaks up too much energy in the afternoon play. Take the case of Merkle. Before he took up golf he was batting over .300. Since that he has dropped below .270. He was playing golf every day on this trip, and has gotten four hits in eleven games. There'll be no more of this St. Andrews stuff until we are safely over the line or until some one else has beaten us to the wire."

The golf edict caused a mild sensation. Scotia's ancient game has gotten a deep hold on several of the athletes, including Merkle, Mathewson, Herzog and Shafer, with others planning to take it up. But the fact that the club has not batted much on this trip, and the fact that the Phillies have gained two games, have combined to bring about the proclamation.

Many of the players think better the next ten days and the gap is widened, the edict will be tempered. The only athlete who is giving three cheers over the bar against golf is Larry Doyle. Doyle rooms with Merkle, and, according to the second sacker, the call bell sounds every morning at seven bells to permit Fred to reach the first tee by eight. "Now," says Larry, "I'll get a little necessary sleep."

NEW HURLER HAS STARRED ALL SEASON

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 11.—Pitcher Elmer Lawrence, who has been pitching such brilliant ball for the Knoxville team this season, has been sold to the Atlanta club in the Southern league. Lawrence will remain in Knoxville until the close of the season before reporting.

The announcement that Lawrence goes higher does not come as a surprise to Knoxville fans. The youngster had been twirling too well during the entire season to remain in this league, or any other Class D affair. When a twirler can win twenty-one games out of twenty-six pitched, with a crippled team behind him during many of his victories, it is about time for him to "move along."

Many other big league teams have made offers for Lawrence at various times throughout the season. He pitched his first game for Knoxville against Johnson City, back in May, shutting that team out by the score of 7 to 0. Since then he began to win for his team, aiming for himself a big reputation throughout the league as the most effective twirler in the circuit.

There is little question but that he will make good in the Southern league. He is not only a real twirler but he looks the part. He is a finished fielder, and his box action is almost perfect. And not only does he field the ball from every point around the pitcher's box, but he is one of the best hitting pitchers in the Appalachian league.

The Atlanta team made a good deal when they copped Lawrence, and it is a certainty that the youngster will be favorably heard from when he joins that club at the end of the Appalachian season.

Hurlers Work Star Battles

While the race in the South Atlantic league during the week just closed was not marked by any sensational spurts toward positions of certainty, with the exception of Savannah's strides, it was featured by a number of more than usually interesting battles. Several pitchers seemed determined to show more than ordinary prowess. One of the best games ever witnessed in the South Atlantic was that Friday between Savannah and Albany. Robertson, of Savannah, and Durham, of Albany, fought for thirteen innings into a scoreless tie. Voss, of Macon, is another pitcher who added to his laurels. In his last game as a Macon pitcher, on Friday, he yielded only three hits. Voss is expected to report to the Atlanta team of the Southern association.

The past week saw Savannah displace Columbus at the head of the South Atlantic club standing, taking all three games of the series at that point of the week. The week closed with the six teams bunched so closely together as to assure a continuance of good attendance and marked interest in all the South Atlantic league cities.

CRACKERS TO PLAY BARONS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 11.—Large crowds are expected at Rickwood Park to see the present series of games between Atlanta and Birmingham. These two teams are tied for third place, and are fighting for a striking distance of Mobile in second place. Consequently, a good deal depends upon these series.

Weather conditions are fair and promising a good game this afternoon. Ellick Boles will be on the firing line for Billy Smith's crew, and Chapman will receive his benders, while Rube Evans will work for the locals with Meyer behind the bat.

Tigers Buy Players

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 11.—President Navin, of the Detroit American league club, announced last night the signing of two outfielders, Tutweiler, of the Fort Wayne Central league team, and Burns, from Portland, Me. Tutweiler will report this week, but Burns will not come to Detroit until later.

Detroit also has secured the services of Fabrique, from Fort Wayne, but he will be sent to Providence, International league, for further seasoning.

CHANGES FOR JUST A DAY

Montgomery, Mobile and Atlanta, the first three clubs, all won their games while Birmingham did not play a Sunday game.

This leaves Atlanta and Birmingham tied for third, and Mobile only a few points ahead. Montgomery has a 6 1-2 game lead on Mobile.

DALTON, Ga., Aug. 11.—After winning a long string of victories by overwhelming scores, the Crown Cotton Mill team, of this city, lost a one-sided contest to Trion Saturday, the score being 11 to 1. The Trion team will come here next Saturday for a return game with the locals.

DONNIE BUSH BOSSED BY MOTHER; HUGH JENNINGS' ASSISTANT BOSS

OWEN BUSH
HE IS A WONDER WITH THE BROOM AND THE DUST CLOTH
MY OWEN'S MADE ANOTHER ERROR.
"I READ THE PAPERS EVERY DAY TO SEE WHAT HE DOES."
MOTHER

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 11.—Inasmuch as Owen Bush, the pee wee shortstop, is a Detroit ball player, the supposition is that Manager Hugh Jennings is his boss. But Hughie is merely an assistant boss.

The boss, chief adviser, the guardian angel of Owen Bush, is Mrs. Ellen Bush, 55, widow and mother of the speedy member of the Detroit infield. Bush is "mother's boy" and glories in the title.

The affection between the little ball player and his mother is an old story to their friends on Indianapolis' east side. Mrs. Bush still thinks of Owen as her baby and her baby is a national character.

"I hated to see Owen become a ball iplayer and I cried when he went ball player and I cried when he went Bend, when he was scarcely old enough to wear long trousers. But it's worse now, for he goes so far from home," said Mrs. Bush.

"He is a good son. He saves his money and I help him to do it. He always sent money home to be banked. I read the papers every day during the season to see what he does and, of course, I like to see him praised. I feel badly when he makes an error.

"When Owen was with Indianapolis I used to see him play nearly every day and it did me good to hear the people cheer him."

Another worshiper of "Donny" is his sister, Elizabeth, who says the Detroit short fielder is a wonder with the broom and dust cloth about the house, but, girls, he draws the line at dishwashing.

"Owen will be 24 in October. He joined Detroit in the fall of 1908 and helped win the pennant, but was too late to play in the world's series. He was 15, or was it 16? when he joined the Dayton club, and 19 when he had such a good season with Indianapolis and helped Carr win the pennant," said Miss Bush.

"Owen stays home most of the time when in town. He bowls considerably and has competed in the national tournament. The greatest pal here is 'Johnny,' the dog. Mother used to scold him when he was a boy for playing ball too much. She told him he was wasting his time, as I guess most mothers tell their boys some time. Now she is glad that he had the game so deeply in his system that she could not get it out.

"I hope Owen stars for years, for I'll hate to see him return to the minors and be treated as some of them are. When he's through 'up there' I hope he sees fit to give up the game. The way he is saving his money he ought to have enough left to retire on if he is successful as he has been."

HOW CLUBS PLAY TODAY

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 11.—Newton and Seabough vs. Glavenich and Yantz are the batterymen announced by Manager Bernhard and Frank for the first game of the Memphis-New Orleans series this afternoon. This is Memphis' last trip here and the visiting team hopes to continue its winning streak for a first division berth. The weather is clear and warm.

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 11. — Mobile and Montgomery begin a series of five games here this afternoon that will in all probability determine whether either will be the league leader for the pennant and an uphill fight will be on from the time "play ball" is called. Bill Campbell, a southpaw, will be called on to pitch the first game for the home club with Schmidt behind the bat, while Johnny John, Mobile will work his star performer, Elmer Brown.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 11.—The first game of the Nashville-Chattanooga series will be played here this afternoon and delegates to the International Typographical union will help swell the crowd. Williams and Gibson will be the battery for Nashville and Grimes and street for the visitors. The weather is fair.

TEN-MILE FINAL HEAT IN MOTORDROME FEATURE

Another good program will be pulled off at the motordrome on Tuesday night, with the usual riders participating.

Besides the run-off in the match race between Hazy Glenn, the local boy who is making good with the riders, and George Lockner, which race was tied on Friday night, there will be a three-cornered match race between McNeil, Graves and Schwartz. The heats in this race will be one, two and three miles, and a rider must win two heats of the three to win the race.

The feature of the evening will, however, be the forced Adair sweepstakes, a ten-mile race with three two-mile qualifying heats. The usual plan of allowing the first two men in the fastest heat and the winners of the other two to qualify will be followed.

CRACK WORK AT FIELDING

After a series in which every game was neck and neck, a comparison of the averages of Atlanta and Nashville show little difference.

Two ten-inning games, one that it took eleven to settle and one which was won in the ninth tell the tale of the series.

Runs the two teams are tied for the series, and there was little difference in hitting. The only thing the Crackers showed an edge in was fielding. The first three games were errorless affairs on the Crackers' side of the score sheet.

SOUTHERNERS WHO STARRED

Joe Jackson: Received four put-outs in right field; batted .500 in two times up and stole a base.

Zack Wheat: Hit safely once in four times up.

Jake Daubert: Had a big day in the field, getting fifteen put-outs and three assists without an error. At bat he got one hit in four times up. This hit was for two bases.

Red Smith: Got two hits in three trips.

Greensboro in Spurt; Carolina Race Close

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 11.—The end of the sixteenth week of the race in the North Carolina league finds four clubs in an extremely close race for the pennant. Winston-Salem still leads with a percentage of .570, but Durham, in second place, is pushing for the top, being only two games to the rear of the top-notchers. Raleigh is in third place, but only a half game behind Durham, while Asheville, standing fourth in the percentage column, is only five games behind Winston-Salem.

The features of the week has been the spurt of Greensboro. Emerging from the lower round of the ladder, which she has occupied very nearly all the season, she is now in fifth place and only thirteen games behind Winston-Salem. Charlotte is the tail-ender with a percentage of .391 and sixteen and a half games from the top.

LEADING CLUBS FAIL TO DO ANY CLIMBING

AGLER'S HIT IN ELEVENTH ENDED GAME

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 11.—Atlanta took the last game of the series after an eleven-inning wrestle for the contest, 5 to 4.

Joe Agler's line drive to first in the eleventh, which Hofman could only flag with the aid of his mitt, allowed Holtz to score the winning run.

Three pitchers faced the Atlanta crew and two were driven off the mound.

Boland, a youngster from Akron, Ohio, was decidedly wild, and Beck was taken out in the ninth for Noyes to bat. Fleharty finished the game.

The Vols got away in a hurry, scoring one in the first and two in the fourth.

In the first Callahan's single and Spratt's double did the work, while in the fourth the Vols' other two runs came as follows:

Gibson walked and Young singled. Perry sacrificed them both and Hofman walked. Lindsay squeezed Gibson in and Hofman was caught at second. Young scored when Bizzy threw wild to first.

The Crackers, however, overhauled the Vols in the third when Perry errored, allowing Chapman to get on. Consalman moved his battery mate with a triple and Agler and Long walked. Bisland was then replaced by Beck, who faced Welchonce. Harry singled, scoring Chapman and Agler. Long being cut off at the plate when Smith filed to Daley.

In addition to his steady hurling, Consalman's triple was the feature of the game.

Suspension Of Gil Price

The suspension of Gilbert Price because of the recent game he hurled in Nashville is yet a mystery. The reports from Nashville stated that Price had been required to turn in his uniform and quit the club, but to date he has not shown up in Atlanta.

Here is what Jack Nye, sporting editor of the Nashville Tennessean, has to say of the trouble between Manager Smith and Price:

That curve ball that Dave Callahan slammed to the dump for a double, driving in the winning run in the ninth that defeated Atlanta, cost Gilbert Price his job on the Cracker team.

No sooner had Gil returned to the bench than Manager Billy Smith announced that he was indefinitely suspended, and ordered him to turn in his uniform. Price left for Atlanta at an early hour this morning, to remain there until the team returns from the present road trip.

According to a statement made by Price in talking the matter over, Smith took exception to his piching Callahan a curve ball with the count two and two on him. What else was to do?" the pitcher asked. "With two balls and two strikes called it was up to me to get that next strike over if I could. I knew that Callahan would pickle a straight ball for fair in the majority of cases, and tried to fool him on a curve. You know what the result was, but it wasn't because I wasn't trying to pitch."

When asked about the matter Smith admitted that he had suspended Price and sent him home, declaring that he had sent him home twice before this game with Nashville. He intimated strongly that Price's suspension would be for only a few days at the most, and that he might be in the game at Atlanta over the week end home. Price has been a consistent winner at home this year, but has not been what he should on the road to any extent, and this fact may have had something to do with his being sent home.

Another Player Goes

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 11.—Manager Duffy, of the Portland baseball club, New England league, announced last night that Outfielder Joseph Burns had been sold to the Detroit Americans. The price was not stated.

TESREAU STARTS OFTENER THAN OTHER GIANT HURLERS

John McGraw has called on Jeff Tesreau oftener to start battles this year than any other member of the Giant pitching staff. Up to August 1 the "Lit. Al" Vanderbilt had given the pitching assignment to the big spit-baller twenty-five times. Jeff only went the route on eight occasions, but on many of the times he was derricked he was lifted to allow a pinch hitter to be inserted into the proceedings, and not because he was not performing to the satisfaction of his commander.

Were Hugh Chalmers, of Detroit, to offer a cup to the National league pitcher who twirled the greatest number of complete games instead to the player who is most valuable to his team, Christy Mathewson undoubtedly would be riding around in a new auto next fall. "Six Six" has opened on the firing line in twenty-two skirmishes for the Giants this year and has lasted through seventeen engagements, which gives him a finishing average of .773. Matty quit twice because he had to, twice because his team had an enormous lead and once because McGraw wished to shove Harry McCormick in as a pinch hitter.

The club that has compelled Mathewson to retire under fire is St. Louis, the team that handed him his first beating twelve years ago, when he first became famous. The Cardinals ought to be proud of themselves for their showing against "Big Six" this year. They have received five of the thirteen passes Matty has issued this season. Ed Konetchy and Miller Huggins each obtaining two and Steve Evans one. The eight other National leaguers who have been honored with complimentaries by Mathewson this season are Vick and Mensor, of Pittsburg; Bates and Groh of Cincinnati; Zimmerman, of Chicago, and Titus, Hariden and Marsaville, of Boston.

Giants Pulled Down While Mackmen Fared Well by Trimming the Naps In Three of the Four Games

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Ten teams in their quest for the major league pennants failed to make any headway during the week ended Saturday. The other six gained from 7 to 14 points, but among them were neither the New York Giants nor Philadelphia Athletics, leaders respectively in the National and American leagues. These two stood still, as each won and lost three games. Philadelphia, Chicago, Pittsburg and Cincinnati, in the older league, and Chicago and Boston, in the younger, were the six that bettered their standing.

In the National the week's results continue to show that Manager McGraw, of New York, cannot yet be certain of driving his team through the 1913 world's series, for Philadelphia in seven days cut the Giants' 83-point lead down to 64 points, representing a difference of a game and a half. The Giants gained a half game by defeating Cincinnati while Philadelphia was idle.

On the other hand, in the American circuit it would appear that Connie Mack, although his team lost 10 points in the percentage table, can begin forth with to groom his veterans for the first of the post-season games, for his club is farther ahead of the field than it was last Sunday, due to the bad showing of the runners-up, Cleveland and Washington.

The Clevelands just about eliminated themselves as flag contenders. Facing a so-called crucial series Monday with the Athletics, they made a dismal display at a time when they loomed at the former world's champions only rivals. Had they won three of the four games, the Naps would have been right on the heels of the Mackmen. Instead, the Athletics took the long end of the series.

In these contests Birmingham's pitchers were outbatted and outfielded, Mack's pitchers, with the exception of Plank, twirled championship ball.

NAPS GO BADLY.

In both leagues no other team did so well as the White Sox. Prior to their Mack's pitchers, with the exception of Plank, twirled championship ball.

NAPS GO BADLY.

*Apparently the struggles with Cleve*land told on the Boston Braves, for in the remaining days they fell before Chicago.

In both leagues no other team did so well as the White Sox. Prior to their two victories over the Athletics, Chicago took three out of four from Washington. The week saw Callahan's men fight their way into a few games of third place. "Lefty" Russell proved the major league star, being credited with three victories, two from Washington and one from the Athletics.

Boston made an effort to return to the .500 mark, winning four games and losing one.

As for the other teams, Detroit and New York split even on the week, while St. Louis, like Cleveland and Washington, dropped a lost four. In the ranking no change took place in the league.

In the Lynch circuit Saturday night found Chicago's third place tenancy of Pittsburg, with St. Louis holding Cincinnati's former cellar position, Brooklyn barely above sixth place and Philadelphia steadily forging ahead.

The Phillies, in fact, got within seven games of the Giants, while the latter struck a slump that took no part in. Injuries of players, Philadelphia's dropped to two games out of seven, defeating St. Louis four times running and Chicago twice. Chicago added three victories over the Superbas to two over the Phillies, losing once to Philadelphia and twice to Brooklyn. Pittsburg's four victories, against two defeats, included the winning of her first home series from the Giants since 1910.

The showing of the Pittsburg series was eventful in another way. Two New York pitchers had winning streaks broken, Marquard, after taking nine straight, fell to Cincinnati, and Mathewson likewise was humbled, losing to McQuillan. Pittsburg on Monday allowed Demaree to run his string up to eight, but on Friday McGraw's new star held to Cincinnati. The effacement of these near records of the season leaves Walter Johnson sole possessor of a string worthy of comment. He has taken eleven straight and is tied with his teammate, Bohling, who fell last week. Cincinnati had a fruitful week dropping only two games of six in its climb from last place. St. Louis lost four out of seven and Brooklyn and Boston each took one game out of seven played.

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

The batting scramble between T. Raymond Cobb and J. Shoeless Jackson is not the only feature of 1913 note built around the old poling log. The fire of youth still gleams in the batting eye of both Ty and Joe, but there is another struggle under way in which the batting figures may be smaller, but in which there is vastly more sentiment and regard.

We refer to the seventeenth annual duel between Nap Lajoie, of Cleveland, and Honus Wagner, of Pittsburg, with the two veterans still pounding the pill in a nip and tuck struggle.

LAJOIE VS. WAGNER.

The Lajoie-Wagner dope has been outlined before and from various angles, but when two such miracles of play rise up there is always an extra turn.

Wagner has been adjudged by the majority as the most valuable ball player the game has ever known, with Cobb the most brilliant. But Lajoie has proven himself to be the game's greatest natural hitter.

We put this last argument recently up to ten different sons of swat. Eight picked Lajoie, one Ed Delehanty and one Pop Anson. To our trend of dope, Lajoie is still proving his worth as the king of all who go to bat.

STILL AT IT.

Wagner last season broke a world's record by traveling sixteen consecutive seasons above .300. Lajoie missed fire two years, but his general batting average for the seventeen years in still twenty points above that of Wagner. The two are still running true to comparative form, for while Honus is struggling around the .300 border, still a trifle below from a recent slump, Lajoie is well over the mark and is tearing the eternal hide off the ball.

His recent exhibition against the Athletics shows that he still belongs. He may be slowing up and drifting back, but he can still hit. Will Cobb or Jackson in their seventeenth year still be well over .300, when both must depend solely upon a natural batting eye minus the speed of hoof whhich outlegs infield hits? Very probably not.

COBB VS. JACKSON.

Jackson may beat Cobb out this season, but the Nap slugger has a robust task ahead. Ty is not only a great hitter, but a hard fighter. He belongs to that scattering tribe of the chosen few who can do better work under the tautness of keen competition. The tougher the race and the faster the pace, the better Cobb hits it. If either cracks, it won't be Cobb. And it may be that neither will break, as Jackson has also shown sufficient nerve to keep traveling at an even dash without curling up under fire.

Jackson and Cobb are different types at bat. Joe takes a free, clean swing, loose-jointed and nonchalant. Ty imparts a shorter, sharper punch and is much more upon the alert around the plate. Jackson and Lajoie are much the same types, more alike than any two batsmen in the game. The athlete with the cleanest sweep and the best follow through at bat is Tris Speaker. All have varying styles, but all, in turn, follow the main principle of batting before they pass .300, which is the art of hitting the ball out in front of the plate, with the club in front of the hands are arms, where the swing is in the proper plane, and not up or down for a fly or a grounder.

No ball player in the game uses as perfect a co-ordination of body and arms as Lajoie. No other batsman brings his wrists as keenly into play as Schulte. No other ball player now in the harness typifies as much combined power and ease as Heinie Zimmerman. Heinie uses poor judgment, but for all that he is the incarnation of swat while poised at the plate with the blugeon quivering in his mitts.

Not even Lajoie has a finer batting eye than Cravath, of the Phillies. Cravath hasn't Lajoie's easy swing, but his batting eye is among the best.

The two who have studied the art of batting above all others are Cobb and Meyers. Much of their success has come from long, hard work where a natural gift was greatly improved. Lajoie has never had to study the game, and neither has Wagner. They were always a part of it, just a it was a part of them, and natural intuition left them nothing to do but accept it all as it came.

There is no particular grace to Frank Baker, but no man carries any more raw, crude power to the plate. He has a good eye and a brace of wrists as thick as an elephant's ankle. These wrists propelling a heavy bat into any form of speed are likely to end a ball game at any moment. But he is not as likely to hit an effective change of pace as Cobb or Jackson.

MEN WHOM BASEBALL HAS MADE RICH

John McGraw, the Little Napoleon of the National Game, Who Survived the "Good Old" Rowdy Dowdy Days and Has a Large Bale of Kale Salted Away.

"MUGGSY."

Men who knew "Muggsy" McGraw, of the old Baltimore Orioles, scarcely recognize John J. McGraw, boss of the New York Giants today.

As manager of the Baltimore club, McGraw was one of the roughest of that rowdy dowdy crew of wreckers. Today his battle cry is "Speed" and "Aggressiveness," but he no longer recommends spike-sharpening to intimidate infielders.

McGraw began his baseball career with the Olean, N. Y., club at the tender age of twenty. Then he was a blue-eyed child who gave no warning of future greatness.

As third baseman of the Orioles, McGraw became "Muggsy" and a terror. He grew famous and succeeded Ned Hanlon as manager of the team.

With the birth of the American league, McGraw and several of his players jumped to the Giants, where he was given full authority and a big salary to produce a winner.

History proves that he did his work so well that he draws $20,000 a year, and last year signed a five-year contract at this figure.

As the result of his success McGraw is on finance's Easy street. Last fall, during the world's series, he and Ban Johnson shook hands, healing a breach that had existed ever since the jump from Baltimore to New York.

Twice in the last three years McGraw has led his team to league pennants and world's series. Twice he has lost baseball's highest honors. His team was outplayed by the Athletics and outlucked by the Red Sox. This year he is almost certain to participate in another world's series, and at this distance he seems to have a team capable of beating either the Athletics or Cleveland, should the latter team come in front in the last few jumps.

McGraw is a better baseball leader than many give him credit for. Men who follow the game closely know he has won pennants with one or two stars and a large collection of arms and legs, the supply of brains being concealed about his own chubby person.

OLD STARS BATTED HARD BUT WERE PAID POORLY

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Baseball managers and players of a quarter century ago received salaries that appear ridiculous compared with fabulous sums which those of today are said to receive, according to figures gathered by a local sporting writer.

"Cap" Adrian C. Anson was said to have received the "princely" sum of $2,700 for managing the Chicago White Stockings in 1888, the year after he had finished the season with a batting average of .421. Of this amount $700 represented his services as acting captain and manager of the team. R. E. Smith, of Chicago, says he possesses the contract.

Smith also has the contracts made by N. Fred Pfeffer and Edward N. Williamson when they player in the Brotherhood league in 1889. These two players were talked of at that time as the greatest in the game. The Chicago club paid Williamson $3,000, while Pfeffer, one of the greatest of all second basemen, received only $2,000 and the score card privileges.

A larger salary than any of these old-time stars was paid to Charles Comiskey, present owner of the Chicago White Sox, when he jumped to the Brotherhood league. His contract, also held by Smith, called for $7,000 in 1890. Comiskey was then regarded as the dean of fielding first basemen, although he was not regarded as good at bat as Anson.

Champion Matches of GOLF Worle Wide Interest

Both of the men's United States national championships for 1913 will take on an international interest through the promised attendance of eminent British and French experts. In the open championship at the Brookline Country club near Boston we are assured of the attendance of Harry Vardon, five times British open champion and probably the most perfect golfer of the generation, and Edward Ray, famous for magnificent driving and winner of the British amateur championship last year. J. H. Taylor, the present British open champion, expected to visit us, but it now looks as if he could not get away.

From France will come Massey, many times French open champion, who surprised the English and Scotch golfers by winning the British open championship a few years ago. With Massey will come Tellier, present French open champion, a golfer of surpassing brilliancy.

With these four foreign experts in the competition our imported and home-bred pros will have a hard time to keep the title on this side of the pond. While there is no doubt that the standard of professional golf in the United States has improved since Vardon and Taylor visited us and finished one and two, it remains to be seen whether it is yet high enough to withstand the skill of these great masters of the game.

In the amateur championship at Garden City it is probable that we will have Henry Hilton, Abe Mitchell, and one or two other first-class British experts. Hilton, having won the British amateur championship this year, making his fourth win of the title, is apparently desirous of adding another American trophy to his record. He is reported to be playing better golf than at any time in his long and successful career.

The other assured British entry, Abe Mitchell, created quite a sensation abroad a year or two ago by his sensational low scoring in a number of medal events. He comes from what is known as the artisan class abroad, being a gardener by trade. He was looked upon as a dangerous dark horse for the recent British amateur championships. At various times it has been reported that he was about to join the professional ranks.

It is expected that one or two other of the real top-notch amateurs will pack up a kit of clubs and join Hilton and Mitchell in their invasion, and thus pave the way for more cordial relations between the amateurs of the two nations.

With Travis on his home course, where he is almost invincible in thirty-six hole matches, Travers apparently playing inspired golf in a pinch, and "Chick" Evans, Fred Herreshoff, and other brilliant performers, the chances are against the British amateurs taking home the coveted prize.

It is hoped that the international flavor given the British and American championship will increase, for it is only by this means that American golf will attain the highest standing.

Swimming Records

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 9.—Two Canadian swimming records were smashed at the annual Canadian swimming championship held here today. In the 220-yards breast stroke S. H. Gooday, of Montreal Swimming club, won in 3:18. The former record was 3:42.

PITCHED NO-HIT GAME WITH AN INJURED ARM

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Aug. 11.—William J. Smith, of the Pittsfield Eastern Association Baseball club, who took an injured arm out of splints Monday, pitched a no-hit game against Waterbury Tuesday, shutting them out, 3 to 0. Smith did not give a pass and struck out six men. Only three Waterbury players reached first, all on errors.

Smith came here from the Memphis club of the Southern league.

Players Go Up From Central

(By Associated Press.)

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 11.—Major league scouts are nding the Central league a profitable hunting ground, and are buying the best players right and left, without waiting to take chances in the draft. At the present rate of purchase, it is estimated that few players of major league calibre will remain when the Central league season closes, four weeks from yesterday.

Central league team owners are doing all they can to encourage the scouts to watch their men in action for on the sale of young players depends most of the earnings for the magnates. While the average attendance in the six cities of the league has been better than ever before the gate receipts will not much more than pay expenses and the owner must look to the sale of players to make his profit.

A few of the players that have been taken recently from the ranks of the Central league are: Catcher Hargrove, to the Chicago Americans from Terre Haute; Pfeffer, to Brooklyn from Grand Rapids; Pick and Kroy to the New York Amedicans from Terre Haute; Fabrique and Tragwiller to Detroit and Bowman to Cleveland from Grand Rapids.

It is also reported that the Central club owners are considering deals for several other players, including Fittery, Evansville, Maden, Terre Haute; Wickland, Dayton and Tydeman, Grand Rapids.

Richie Is Traded To Minor League

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Pitcher Lew Ritchie, known in former years as the "Giant killer," because of his ability to beat the National league champions, was traded today to the Kansas City club of the American association by President Murphy, of the Chicago Nationals. Richie is the second of the old Cubs' pitching stars to be released to the minors this week, Orville Overall having been sold to the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league.

In exchange for Richie the Chicago team gets Pitcher Vaughn and another player.

NOT A HIT IS MADE IN NINE ROUNDS

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 11—Jake Fittery, pitcher for the Evansville, Central League club, shut out Terre Haute, not allowing a hit during the nine innings. Only four local players reached first and two went to second where they were left.

Tennis Meet on

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 11—The annual city tennis tournament opened Thursday afternoon with practically 100 entries. A number of local cracks, feminine and masculine, are entered in both the doubles and the singles matches.

All of last year's champions will be present this year to defend their titles. They are Will Ochmig in the men's singles, Edward Whiteside and Alex Guerry in the men's doubles, and Miss Mary Lynn Carter in the ladies' singles.

Play will be staged on the courts at the Chattanooga Golf and Country club in Riverview. The tourney is open.

Washington Manager Sure That Left Handers Would Be Big Help in Bringing Home Many Games

Barring, perhaps, two or three right-handed pitchers, it would not be at all surprising if the Washington pitching staff next season consisted almost entirely of southpaws. Clark Griffith has come to the conclusion that left-handed twirlers do not need as much natural ability to make good in the big leagues as do right-handers, and he figures that if the proper effort is made it will be easie to find suitable material of this kind.

He has instructed all his scouts to keep a sharp lookout for left-handed pitchers. He wants to pick up all of them that he can find, in the hope of getting three or four southpaws on his team by next season.

"You have often heard it argued," said he, "that left-handed hitters are not puzzled by left-handed pitchers, but you bet they are. There are a few left-handed hitters who hit southpaws occasionally, but all of them must admit that they are handicapped under such conditions.

"What is more, the right-handed hitters are mostly helpless against a left-handed man who has anything. I want a whole staff of left-handers for mine in the future and I propose to scout the country from one end to the other for them."

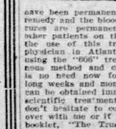
Blood Poison or "606"



I have been giving the "606" and 914 for the treatment of Specific Blood Poison for the past two years and have given something near eight hundred treatments. I have proven in connection with other leading Specialists, that "606" is THE remedy for Specific Blood Poison. Numbers and numbers of patients have been permanently cured by this wonderful remedy and the blood tests has shown that these cures are permanent and I have numbers of other patients on the road to recovery through the use of this treatment. I was the first physician in Atlanta to begin advertising and using the "606" treatment. I use the intravenous method and consider it the best. There is no need now for a patient to go through long weeks and months of waiting when results can be obtained immediately by the use of this scientific treatment. If you need treatment don't hesitate to come in and talk the matter over with me or if you can't call, write for my booklet, "The True Story of Salvarsan," or "606."

Maret in New York Closed 3 to 6 Points Higher Than the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Failure of early weather advices to indicate rains predicted for the southwest caused an active covering movement in cotton. Opened 10 to 11 points higher. Prices later eased off 6 or 7 points under liquidation. Private wires indicated no more than light showers at the corner stations in east Texas over Sunday.

Rallies of 3 to 4 points occurred later in the morning, but private reports of rain at New Orleans were followed by renewed weakness with the market only a point or two above Saturday's closing prices at midday.

Estimated receipts today 4,000 bales.

Hailing 6 to 8 points followed the settled weather reports showing generally dry weather in Oklahoma and Texas, but good rains were forecast for Arkansas and the market was soon eased off again, ruling about net unchanged during the middle of the afternoon.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 11.—Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 4 to 9 points on good cables and continued dry weather in the western cotton belt. Predictions now from Texas and Oklahoma were unlikely and encouraging for long range weather. First prices were about the highest in the early trading, as after the first demand was satisfied the inquiry fell off the end of the first active month stood 7 points up.

The forecast of unsettled weather for Oklahoma increased selling orders and at the end of the first hour of trading the active months 6 to 7 point down to 2 points up compared with Saturday's close.

Toward the middle of the morning the market stood at 2 net decline of 1 to 2 points, but about this time some unfavorable private reports from the west told of serious damage to the crop. Many reports that plants were wilting came in. Bulls claimed that the best that could be expected from the Oklahoma forecast was scattered showers. The market had a very steady tone toward noon and on moderate buying, forced prices up as soon 2 to 3 points over Saturday's final figures.

Saving and Investing

THE ERIE RAILROAD.

BY JOHN M. OSBORN

It was a wonderful system of finance which the Kuhns of Pittsburg built up in a comparatively short time, and which was hit a severe blow when the government bank inspectors closed the First-second National of Pittsburg the other day.

It was a system built to take care of the needs of the investor of any amount of money, and it is a pity it existed that so unfortunately existed. As a matter of fact, about the worst that could be said of the Kuhn system was that it grew too fast.

Not many years ago the Kuhn brothers, W. S. and W. S., were clerks in a bank at Johnstown, Pa. It is said there that they got their idea of putting under one financial control water works and electric light companies, holding company and logging stock in that company when investors anywhere could be found.

There was no economic reason why the plan should not work out, and those it benefited in the early days of the Kuhns to carry out their purposes and who backed them with the necessary capital witnessed a brilliant series of public utilities coming to life.

From the single control of widely scattered waterworks, the Kuhns went on to water-power projects, reclamation projects, and the ownership of coal lands. In all these enterprises a high quality of management was invested upon. At the time of the failure of the bank in Pittsburg the interests controlled thereby represented a capitalization of something like $175,000,000.

To market the securities issued under their plan, the Kuhns had a financial organization which pretty well covered the country. They were among the first to attempt to popularize their issues by cutting them up into small pieces—the $100 investor was appealed to especially.

But the Kuhn interests grew too fast. When the slump in the investment market came it was not within their necessary or permissible to put up to the banks under their control the task of marketing securities. And in the case of banks which are under the national bank law such holdings are not regarded as desirable by the treasury department.

National banks must keep themselves in a state of readiness to meet all possible claims—and with over $5,000,000 in securities which had no quick market the First-Second National bank of Pittsburg was open to criticism.

There seems an unbridgeable gap between commercial and investment banking—the Kuhn failure only illustrates it anew.

COTTON GOSSIP.

Washington long range forecast: Temperatures below normal are promised this week only to the Mississippi valley and the Pacific slope.

"The distribution of atmospheric pressure over the American continent and the adjacent oceans, such as to cause the temperature to follow the normal during the week in the northwestern states and in the Pacific slope, high temperatures the first half of the week in the northern Rocky Mountain states and the lower Mississippi Valley, followed by lower temperatures in these regions Thursday or Friday; warm weather during the week to fairly well distributed Atlantic states; moderate temperatures the first half of the week in the region of the northeast Lakes, the upper Ohio valley and the middle Atlantic states and New England states will be followed by warmer the last half of the week or early Monday.

"In the region of drought, the middle Mississippi valley and the middle and southern plains states, temperatures will continue high during the first half of the week, while during the latter half of the week the weather in these districts will be somewhat cooler with probability of well distributed showers. The precipitation during the week will be fairly well distributed.

"There are no indications at the present time of a disturbance of the first class."

Times-Democrat says: Weather reports received by the Times-Democrat Sunday night from the sections of Texas and Oklahoma where drouth is affecting the cotton crop, p rospects were that no rain will fall Sunday and probably to be impending immediately.

High temperatures all unofficial, prevailed in the belt. Reports reported the weather clear, with a maximum temperature for the day of 94; Bell county, 100; Greenville, 100; Clarksville, 100; Texarkana part cloudy 91; Paris clear 100; Denison clear 98; Temple clear 97; Galveston part clear 98; Ardmore clear 97; Durant clear 98; Honey Grove clear 94.

The temperature fell in its weekly forecast from Washington predicted continued high temperatures over the southwest, but that there would be a drop in the mercury and well distributed rains from the middle of the week.

May shows cloudy entire belt except fair Tennessee, North Carolina, good rain, Arkansas and North Louisiana, part shower southwest and northwest Texas. Indications are boll weevil increasing entire belt. Local developments west a little slow but indications are for heavy rains, rains, part shower or good rains in the near future. Rains: Amarillo, 1½; Galveston scattered, Houston scattered, Jacksonville 1 inch, Little Rock raining 04; Memphis 24; Houston 01; Macon 48; Monroe, La., 1.46.

New Orleans Times-Democrat: Advances in cotton, in the face of serious damage to the crop, were reported from the west this morning. Many reports that plants were wilting came in. Bulls claimed that the best that could be expected from the Oklahoma forecast was scattered showers. First prices were about the highest in the early trading, as after the first demand was satisfied the inquiry fell off the end of the first active month stood 7 points up.

JOURNAL WANT AD Horoscope

AUGUST 12

The sign "Leo," which governs this birthdate, means the Lion and is represented on the Zodiac by the picture of a lion. It represents the natural courage and freedom which people of this birthdate have.

The sun is the governing planet and gives splendid planetary conditions of marked success to those with this birthdate who follow public careers.

Good examples of great public success are Julia Marlowe and Mary Mannering, both of whom are Leo natives; Frank R. Frank Munsey, editor and publisher; Bret Harte, the novelist, Amelie Rives, Ernest Seton Thompson and many others.

The Journal Want Ads today will call attention to many good real estate opportunities. Look for those who seek a public career or those seeking lost articles.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Proper Houses for Chickens In the South

TO SUCCESSFULLY handle poultry it requires three hundred and sixty-five days' and nights' work in the year, and no man can succeed without giving it this time and attention. It is everlasting and eternal diligence that makes a success of the poultry business. It can not be done any other way, and unless you make up your mind to dismiss other things and put your whole time and attention in this work you had better let it alone. There are thousands of people who do this with many other lines of industry, and a person naturally has to have a great love for poultry and this work to make up their minds to do so with it before they can ever learn enough about it to succeed, but the opportunities are here for the man who will go after them. Poultry and eggs are getting scarcer every day and while it is true most of the poultry, eggs, cattle and all kinds of farm products that are supplied to the world and the nation is fed with are largely produced by small breeders and growers there is still a great opportunity and room at the top and it is almost necessary that we have a certain number of large breeders as well. In other words the small breeders who furnish the United States with poultry and cattle are compelled to look to the large breeders of thoroughbreds for blood to keep up their flocks to a standard where they will make a profit. The commercial man owes to the fancier the honor of producing the two-hundred egg per year hen and the eight-pound dressed fowl where a few years ago they were feeding a seventy-five egg per year hen and a four-pound dressed fowl which was costing them the same feed, care and attention as the bird that is now producing two and three times the same results with this same feed.

The improved poultry houses and the improved methods of feeding are due to the fancier and without their study and work the commercial end of poultry keeping would have never found the per cent of profit there is in it today, and without the rapid strides made by the fanciers the supply of poultry and eggs could have never been had in one-half enough quantity to take care of the world's needs. The poultry industry from the fancy as well as commercial standpoint throughout the entire south is now just in its infancy and I look to see during the next few years more rapid strides made than ever and such a boom for poultry as has never been known before will be seen during the next few years. The urgent need of these food products and there being no other way by which anywhere near enough can be produced to take the place of it has forced this state of affairs on us, and to the south the world will have to look to give them one hundred times as much of these products as they are now doing. There is a line of work throughout the entire south that can be done in poultry culture that will mean a revolutionize the country that mean millions and millions of dollars to us. It requires money and knowledge to accomplish these things and I am sorry to say we have but few people in this country who are enough interested to give this matter any thought. But, if a few thousands of dollars per year were expended in Georgia for a big laying competition and proper methods of housing, feeding and the rearing of young chicks in great quantities suited to our conditions here could possibly be had it would mean a diversity of our industry and something that would bring millions of dollars to the south that we do not get now. However, I do not believe we will ever get anyone interested enough who has the capital to do this work for us or to see that it is done. But, if our people get themselves together and take up this line of work it would be worth more to our country than any work that could be done. The solving of the problems of poultry keeping are the main things, and so much has already been learned in this respect that it has enabled us to get returns now that we had never thought of ten year ago. But not yet one-half of what actually could be done and only by experience and going further into these details can we ever know the possibilities and actual value this great industry is to be to our country.. There will be some further experiments made in housing and incubating poultry in the south that will be worth much to all who are concerned and year by year we are gradually gaining information that is helping add to our profits and some day the poultry industry of the south will be appreciated as it should be. In connection with our great cotton industry the poultry industry works to such great advantage that we should have hundreds of breeders to where we now have one.

Yours very truly,

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.

Klesimmee, Fla.

Will you please tell me what is the trouble with my cow? The milk is very ropy, gets so after standing a while, so one would think it is almost impossible to skim the cream. Reminds you of the white of an egg. I feed on beet pulp and shorts, have used cotton seed meal until about a week ago. I stake her out on bermuda grass. Should we use the milk? Answer soon and oblige.

Y. M. R.

ANSWER.

Change the cow's feed and give two pounds of wheat bran, two pounds cotton seed meal, two pounds corn meal and three pounds of soaked beet pulp. This should be mixed with cotton seed hulls and give nine pounds at each meal, making eighteen pounds of grain food per day. In addition to the grass that the cow is getting. Also give one tablespoonful of saltpeter either in the food or dissolved in water and drench her with it. The next day after giving the saltpeter she should have one pound of Epsom salts dissolved in one quart of water and one ounce of ginger mixed with it. It may be necessary to repeat this, also the saltpeter after this for a fourth day, but by this system you will naturally cleanse the cow's system and nature will cause the milk to get all right.

She should have plenty salt before her at all times. The best way to do this is to use Blackmon's salt brick that only costs 10 cents, salt brick that only cost 10 cents, and will last considerable time and is invaluable in keeping before cattle and horses, also I grind it up and mix with hog feed or keep the brick where the hogs can lick them. It is one of the cheapest and best things a livestock breeder can keep on his premises.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

GOOD BUYS

Medium-Sized Acreage Tracts

ALL of us know the profit that is usually made from acreage. It is almost a cinch-ed fact that if a property is given good acreage, he is sure of a profit in it sooner or later. When we think of acreage propositions, we think of lots of land, and usually lots of money, because the usual acreage transaction involves a great deal of money. The demand for good, close-in acreage for subdivision purposes is increasing every day. A trip to the outskirts of the city is any direction you choose to take will convince you of this fact. We are going to offer a tract of about 100 acres, between Decatur and East Lake, which we have cut up into five, ten and fifteen-acre tracts. The price and terms on these tracts make it possible for almost anybody to handle them.

Auburn Avenue Investment

NEAR the corner of Jackson street, fronting 104 feet on Auburn avenue and running through the block 110 feet to Old Wheat street, we offer six houses, bringing in an income of $57 per month. Take into consideration the fact that this piece of property will enhance in good streets, runs through the block and has a steady, monthly income of $57. These facts insure a steady enhancement in value, the property in the meanwhile bringing in substantial income. Price, $9,000. Terms.

High-Class Building Lots

BELOW we offer several choice building lots in unsurpassed neighborhoods. A look at any of these will convince you of their desirability and also of the scarcity of similar ones:

PEACHTREE CIRCLE, just off Peachtree and Fifteenth streets, fronting the wide plaza formed by the junction of the two streets. Atlanta's handsome homes, we offer a lot 100x124 feet; price $11,500.

PEACHTREE PLACE, we offer several lots, 87x200 feet, at $115 per foot.

ON PIEDMONT AVENUE, just beyond the Driving club, facing east, we offer a 60-foot lot with plenty of trees. This lot has an ample depth of 196 feet. Price $3,750.

REASONABLE terms can be made on any of the above mentioned lots.

Inman Park and West End Residences Change Hands—Permit Taken for $14,000 Residence on Piedmont Avenue. Exchange of Various Properties—Agents Back From Trips Report Good General Conditions, Especially Crops

E. L. Harling has sold for M. L. Collier to L. R. Carmichael No. 38 Spruce street, at the corner of Dixie avenue in the Inman Park section, a residence property, for $7,000.

This consists of a two-story residence on a lot 100x170.

Mr. Harling also sold for Paul S. Etheridge to a customer No. 100 Queen street, a six-room cottage on a lot 50x160, for $2,700.

PIEDMONT AVENUE RESIDENCE.

J. M. B. Hoxsey has taken a building permit for the erection of a residence at No. 982 Piedmont avenue. The residence will cost $14,000, and will be two stories and of brick veneer construction.

BACK FROM CONVENTION.

Harris G. White, president of the Atlanta real estate board; Charles P. Glover, formerly president of the board and now vice president of the national association; Fitzhugh Knox and Inman Knox are back from the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges at Winnipeg.

They all report a fine trip. Mr. White made the observation that as boosters the Canadians have us beat. He thinks, after studying values up there, that values on Atlanta property are mighty conservative.

Residence property in small Canadian cities, he was surprised to discover, is held in some cases at $500 a front foot, a value that can't possibly be justified. In contrast to this is our record of $300 a front foot, although Atlanta has five times the population of one of the Canadian cities where values are so inflated.

Mr. White added that every man, woman and child in the northwest corner is a committee of one to boost the section. The delegates were met by automobiles and brass bands, and it was impossible to go near any city without becoming the guests of that city.

AGENTS BRING GOOD NEWS.

J. H. Ewing is back from a business trip to New York. He quotes financiers there as saying that McAdoo's offer to lend southern banks money to move the crops is going to be a big aid to the south.

Up there they expect a decided betterment of conditions in the next thirty to sixty days, although Mr. Ewing admitted that optimism isn't the most prevalent thing in New York just now.

Russell Hill Inman is another returning agent. He has just been through south Georgia, and he says he never saw finer crops. This is true not only of cotton, but also of potatoes, corn and other crops.

He says he never saw the farmers in better shape in the matter of food crops. The proceeds of the cotton crop will be almost a net profit.

In fact crop reports are unanimously good. Everybody who has seen the farm country of the state has a flattering report to the wise and condition of the various crops.

EXCHANGES OF PROPERTY.

Meldon Lane, of Everett & Everett's agency, from the first of July to date has made the following sales and exchanges:

For Mrs. I. P. Bergstrom to the Fidelity Investment company, twenty-eight acres of land and a seven-room house on the Cheshire Drive road, one-half mile beyond Lakewood for the sum of $8,400. The Fidelity Investment company for Mrs. Bergstrom a six-room bungalow at No. 168 Mansfield avenue, Inman Park, as part payment for $3,850 and the difference. The purchasers intend to make a subdivision of this property, having originally owned seventeen acres adjoining this tract.

For J. T. Stewart to the Fidelity Investment company a six-room bungalow, No. 83 LaFrance street, lot 45x150, for the sum of $3,000, the Fidelity Investment company giving as part payment a vacant lot, lot 45x135, on the west side of Flora street, Inman Park, for the sum of $1,000 and paying the difference.

For J. T. Stewart to J. T. Johnson, a six-room bungalow, No. 40 Royston street, Inman Park, on lot 50x135, for the sum of $4,115.95. Mr. Johnson giving as part payment four vacant lots located on the corner of McPherson and Patterson avenues, East Atlanta, for the sum of $2,000. Mr. Johnson paying the difference.

For J. T. Johnson to the Fidelity Investment company a vacant business lot on West Cain street, 24x46, between Spring and James, for the sum of $5,500. The Fidelity Investment company giving as part payment a house and lot in College park, Ga., for the sum of $1,261, the Fidelity Investment company paying the difference.

DIGITALIS AND BRIGHT'S DISEASE

There are more cases of Bright's Disease on Digitalis and Basham's Mixture than anything else. One is for the heart and the other is an iron tonic. Yet if the case is chronic the books admit the outcome will be failure.

Then why give them?—Because there is nothing in the pharmacopeia to counteract degeneration in the kidneys which is the real trouble and not holding up the heart and giving a tonic the patient may last a little longer.

But is it not clear that if an agent has been worked out that counteracts Renal degeneration and thus prevents the escape of albumen that there is hope? That is the motive of Fulton's Renal Compound, a new result not reached by the pharmacopeia. That it gets this result can be proven by chemists with a little Picric and Citric acid.

We know of no chronic cases recovering under Digitalis and Basham's Mixture without Fulton's Renal Compound but thousands are getting results under the Renal Compound without Digitalis or Basham's Mixture. But they can be continued if necessary. There is no conflict.

If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at Edmondson Drug Co., 11 N. Broad St. and 196 N. Pryor St., Atlanta, Ga.

Ask for pamphlet on our investigation into the curability of Bright's Disease, or write John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco.—(Advt.)

HOLLIS SCORES MILL MEN OF NEW ENGLAND

New Hampshire Senator Bitterly Attacks Cotton Manufacturers and Methods

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Senator Hollis, of New Hampshire, Democrat, criticized the cotton manufacturers of New England in a tariff speech today, in which he declared that New England had not been discriminated against. He characterized as false the charge that tariff reduction would ruin the textile industry there.

"The cotton manufacturers have taken the highest protection and paid pauper wages," he said. "They are compelled by statute to work human hours and conduct their business on humane lines, and not one has voluntarily reduced the hours of labor. They seek to control the government to prevent labor legislation, escape just taxes, to control the police and inferior courts, and secure military aid for the suppression of strikes. They secure special commodity rates for their goods and other preferences from railroads. They oppose the election of Democrats by coercing their employes and they make inordinate profits at present tariff rates. It is a question whether one side in the development of this kind is best for any community."

"Thousands of adult operatives work for $7 a week and live under wretched conditions; the death rate in our New England mill cities is the highest in the United States. It is certain that the cotton industry of New England should not receive any special consideration in the pending bill, due to past conduct.

"In a recent contest in New England for United States senator certain Democratic members of the legislature chanced to be employes of a certain great textile corporation. They were waited upon at their homes and 'requested' not to vote for the caucus candidate. They were not threatened with discharge, but the implication was very plain. What sort of a claim have men like this to special favors at the hands of a Democratic congress?"

Though Senator Hollis did not say so, the reference was taken by other senators to be the recent New Hampshire contest in which he was elected after a deadlock.

Because of absence of many senators, action on important paragraphs in the metal schedule were passed over. Lead rates were taken up.

DISCLAIMS REFLECTIONS ON GOVERNOR OF OHIO

Lobby Probe Continues in Both House and Senate. Mullhall Before House

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—A. E. Marshall, of Dayton, Ohio, who wrote a letter which Martin M. Mulhall read to the senate lobby committee, saying Governor Cox, of Ohio, when a member of congress, had been delaying the selection of a federal building site in Dayton for personal reasons, sent a letter to the committee today, disclaiming any reflections on Cox.

James A. Emery, Washington representative of the manufacturers, continued his testimony.

The house lobby committee today questioned Martin M. Mulhall on his wholesale charges of influence with various congressmen and corruption of employes of the house.

A letter from Representative Bartholdt now in Europe was first produced. Bartholdt was on Mulhall's list of those susceptible to influence. His letter declared no representative of the manufacturers ever influenced him, but added that because of his vote against the Hughes amendment exempting labor unions from anti-trust prosecution under the sundry civil bill, the executive committee of the manufacturers voluntarily promised him moral support.

WOMAN ASKS DAMAGES FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

She Files Suit Less Than Week After Husband's Death

Mrs. Dovie Weaver filed suit against the Georgia Railway and Power company and the Atlanta Telephone and Telegraph company in superior court Monday asking damages for the death of her husband on August 7. Negligence of both corporations is alleged. No specific amount of damages is named.

J. T. Weaver, her husband, was killed on McDaniel street last Thursday while working as a lineman for the telephone company. The telephone and street car cable were on the same post, and Weaver came in contact with the car wire. His death was instantaneous.
